OTTAWA (CP)—Three non-commissioned army officers have each been fined $100 and given a severe reprimand for smuggling opium and gold in Indochina, Defence Minister Harkness said today in the Commons.

He gave their names as Sgt. J. A. Champagne, Sgt. W. B. Gaebel and Cpl. A. J. Hill.

Mr. Harkness said the three were summarily convicted by their commanding officer in Indochina.

Consideration was being given to their "compulsory release" from the army.

K Offers Joint Space Plan Linked to Control of Arms

Soviets at UN Ready to Talk

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Khrushchev agreed today to co-operate with the United States in space exploration, including a program for sending vehicles to other planets.

But he emphasized such joint ventures "depend on the solution of the disarmament problem."

Khrushchev replied to a letter of President Kennedy on March 7 suggesting that the United States and the Soviet Union pool their efforts in such fields as weather forecasting and international communications and even future exploration of the moon and planets.

Khrushchev's proposed six-point program largely parallels the president's suggestions. He said he was instructing Soviet representatives in the UN space committee to meet U.S. representatives to discuss practical plans. But he added:

"At the same time it seems obvious to me that the scope of our co-operation in the peaceful exploration of space, just as the choice of the very directions along which such co-operation would be possible, depends in some degree on the solution of the disarmament problem."

'Both Countries Are Limited'

Before an agreement on general and complete disarmament is reached, he said, both countries are limited in the possibility of co-operating in space.

The 17-nation disarmament conference meeting in Geneva since March 14 has made no visible progress because of disagreement over the issue of inspection to prevent cheating.

In his March 7 letter, Kennedy proposed Soviet-American co-operation in launching satellites for weather observation, mapping the earth's magnetic field and experimenting in intercontinental communications, helping track each other's space shots and pooling information on space medicine.

This was Kennedy's response to a suggestion for space co-operation, in general terms, which Khrushchev made in voicing congratulations on the three-orbit flight of Lt. Col. John Glenn.

Khrushchev's six-point program, read over Moscow Radio, was:

1. Co-operation in setting up international communications networks utilizing earth satellites.

2. A joint project for studying and observing weather by means of orbiting satellites.

3. Organization of joint radio and telescopic tracking of space vehicles launched toward other planets such as Mars and Venus and the moon.

4. Conclusion of an agreement for rendering aid to space vehicles in difficulty in space. This also envisaged joint life-saving operations for space pilots in distress.

5. Co-operation in mapping the magnetic field surrounding the earth and the exchange of space medical information.

Further, Khrushchev said, there are much greater prospects of co-operation in joint creation of space ships for reaching other planets but this would only be possible after an agreement on disarmament.

Khrushchev said weather forecasting with the aid of artificial earth satellites "will make it possible to wage a more successful struggle against natural disaster and will open new prospects for the increase of the welfare of mankind."

His letter emphasized a joint search and rescue program "is especially necessary in view of the fact that it might mean the rescue of lives of cosmonauts, the courageous explorers of the space of the universe."

Israel Asks Talks On Border Strife

(Times News Services)

JERUSALEM—Syrian and Israeli warplanes clashed today and a Syrian spokesman said one Israeli fighter fell from a dog fight in flames.

Each nation accused the other of violating its air space in this followup to hostilities launched in an eight-hour battle in the Sea of Galilee area Saturday.

The number of planes involved was not disclosed.

The Israeli army also claimed Syrian planes had intruded over Israel twice Tuesday and were driven off.

Foreign Minister Mrs. Golda Meir "meanwhile invited the United Nations chief of staff in Palestine, Gen. Carl von Horn, to discuss the border situation."

Foreign ministry sources reported the move following an emergency meeting of the Israeli cabinet Tuesday night.

It was understood the American and British ambassadors also were to confer today with Mrs. Meir.

Tuesday a clash took place shortly before Syrian delegate Farid Chehlouli urged the UN Security Council in New York to investigate the frontier fighting.

Council President Carlos Riosa Rodriguez of Venezuela said that unless something unforeseen occurred, he would not call the council into session before next week to hear the Syrian complaint.

Five Saved From Fumes By Mother

EDMONTON (CP)—An Edmonton mother of four tried for almost two hours to telephone police Tuesday as she lay on the floor of her home almost unconscious from gas fumes from an unlighted furnace in the basement.

She finally managed to dial the police number correctly and say, "Come quickly my family is ill" and give her address.

Police arrived at the home to find Mrs. Irene Iley, 26, her children Wayne, 7, Gail, 6, Larry, 5, Brenda, 4, and baby-sitter Cathleen Thompson, 19, unconscious. All were taken to hospital and released after treatment.

Officials of an Edmonton gas company said the house probably would have blown up within half an hour of the time Mrs. Iley reached police. Police said only the heroic efforts of the mother saved her family.

The baby-sitter, who lives at the house, from gas poisoning occurred, he would not call the council into session before next week to hear the Syrian complaint.

A heavy 24-hour rainfall finally removed the last traces of snow from the streets.

The Victoria Harmony Singing Society announced a "Kraenzchen" or "Soiree" at Moore's Hall next week. The society is composed of natives of Germany, and the affair will be conducted under traditional rules.

Fred Engell was fined £2 for driving a horse and cart over the sidewalk at the corner of Yates and Douglas Streets.

The Hudson Bay Co.'s warehouse was reported completely filled with freight awaiting shipment to British Columbia.

U.S., U.S.S.R. TO COAX FRENCH TO GENEVA?

GENEVA (UPI)—The General Disarmament Conference today instructed the United States and Russia to appeal to France to take its seat at the meeting here.

The 17-nation session unanimously adopted an Indian proposal that the two co-chairmen try to persuade the government of President Charles de Gaulle to accept the United Nations' invitation.

France previously declined on the grounds the meeting would be too unwieldy.

'GET OUT OR BE SHOT'

Major Fighting Shakes Oran

ALGIERS (Reuters)—Full-scale fighting broke out between French security forces and right-wing terrorists at Oran in western Algeria today and dead and wounded were reported on both sides.

In Algiers, French authorities clamped a curfew on the European working class quarter of Babel Oued after six terrorist gun attacks in which three Moslems were killed and three wounded.

The situation in Oran was confused as truckloads of gendarmes sped through the streets, firing their rifles in the air to disperse the crowds.

First reports said the fighting started when the gendarmes went to search a building in the heart of the city where the Secret Army Organization was believed to have installed a pirate radio transmitter.

Secret army men defended the building and the security forces sprayed it with machine-gun fire from their trucks.

Many young Europeans then started firing with pistols from windows and rooftops. Bands of youths set up roadblocks, and bullets whistled down the main business streets. Shoppers ran wildly for cover.

The outbursts came after the secret army issued an ultimatum to French Army forces to get out of Algeria by Friday "or be shot."

Leaflets carrying the message were showered on the soldiers after mortar fire from Bab el Oued wreaked havoc on the Moslem quarter of Algiers Tuesday night.

At least four were killed and 68 wounded in the shelling, which marked violence that followed signing of the Franco-Algerian peace treaty ending the 7½-year Algerian war Monday.

The French news agency quoted sources as saying 24 were killed in the shelling.

Earlier today, relative calm appeared to be returning to Algiers as buses began running for the first time since Monday's general strike.

(French headquarters reported at noon that there had been no reports of clashes between French Army units and Moslems anywhere in Algeria.

The army said "localized fervescence" of Moslem crowds continued in a number of villages but that "all demonstrations are being handled peacefully."

The union bosses in calling the strike for Friday threatened to expand it.

Strike Call Threatens Frondizi

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A strike call to 2,000,000 workers raised new threats today to Arturo Frondizi's thin hold on the presidency of Argentina.

The 53-year-old president was remaining in power as a result of his agreement to split his cabinet between military men and civilians, while banning all political activities by followers of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron.

The Peronists won sweeping victories in provincial elections Sunday, but Frondizi by decree has nullified the election of Peronist governors.

Sixty-two powerful unions called a 24-hour strike for Friday to protest cancellation of the Peronist victories. There were fears the strike could last longer and lead to violence.

Earlier, the crisis appeared to have eased as the government announced the resignation of eight civilian cabinet members to make room for military men in the new coalition.

The union bosses in calling the strike for Friday threatened to expand it.

First Peace Power Cost 5 to 6 Mills

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston early this morning outlined the government's plan for marketing Peace River power for the first time—and it includes export.

Export to the U.S. would mean the best possible results and benefits—if this is in the national interest, he said.

But there are two other possibilities: using it for a national grid; or delaying full development to meet B.C. needs.

He clearly laid out the government's policy at the end of a gruelling day and night in the legislature which spent six and a half hours debating his departmental vote.

The sitting ended at 12:50 a.m.—latest of the session—with Mr. Williston drooping with fatigue, the Opposition critics he was answering almost as weary after eight weeks in the House.

Debate on his department was to continue this afternoon and tonight.

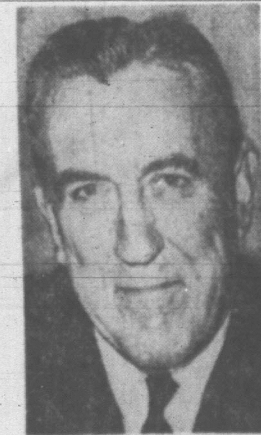

He spelled out the Peace policy after two hours of criticism from Randolph Harding (NDP-CCF—Kaslo-Slocan) and Liberal leader Ray Perault.

They accused the government of changing policy and being in complete confusion on power.

Here is the plan for the Peace:

● The first-stage will be completed in 1967 or 1968, providing 300,000 kilowatts of power at a cost of $450,000,000, available in Lillooet or Vancouver load centres for between 5 and 6 mills per kilowatt hour.

● Then the Peace project will halt, sending this power to the north where already three pulp mills are projected on drawing boards to take advantage of it, and to southern B.C. to plug the gap until the

RED SPLIT

Split between Soviet Union and Communist China "is felt all over south Asia and east Asia," Ambassador Chester Bowles said in Washington today following five-week tour of Asia and parts of Africa.

The Express itself reported that Philip made the attack at a British press reception Tuesday in Rio de Janeiro.

Philip was reported to have described the big, outspoken Express, published by Canadian-born Lord Beaverbrook, as "full of lies, scandal and imagination."

Lindsay declared that the Royal Family "have no means of replying" to the "adverse" comments of Beaverbrook's newspaper—a statement that was denied today by The Express.

"Prince Philip showed well enough in his way last night that he can look after himself," The Express said.

The paper, with a circulation of more than 4,000,000, published Philip's attack under the headline: It's Awful, Says Prince Philip.

The Express also published an editor's note which said: "Both The Daily Express and The Sunday Express have criticized, for instance, the royal yacht, the uses to which it has been put, and the large expenditure that has been incurred on that account."

Lindsay made his statement to reporters following the publication of a private motion in the House of Commons titled: Conduct of Lord Beaverbrook.

The motion declared "that this House deplores the conduct of Lord Beaverbrook in authorizing over the last few years in newspapers controlled by him, more than 70 adverse comments on members of the Royal Family who have no means of replying."

On one occasion, he claimed that newspapers were leaving the public "thoroughly misled" by the way in which they edited his speeches.

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

Rev. William Hills, one of the town's most volatile speakers, kept the Gyo Club in a light mood for most of his talk to them the other day.

His speech was ostensibly on "Search for Peace," but he roamed the field. Following are some of his quotes: "I am to appear with Brock Chisholm in a panel discussion April 2 and some of my friends have said I should not, but I say you can't convert a sinner unless you can get him within reach."

"General Charles Foulkes will also be on it. He's in my parish but I can't get him in church; may be I can get him on the stage. "Tony Emery will also appear. A natural wit and a bright light, I think his conscience probably bothers him once in a while."

"Gladstone once called the Anglicans the Tory Party in Prayer, but that's not true. I'm a Liberal. There'll be an election coming up soon. We need more Liberals. I can't see much future for the province under the present administration."

"Peace had become a dirty word. It is increasingly difficult to sell it to the Canadian people."

Pierre Berton has had to cancel a projected visit to Victoria next month, where he had agreed to recite "The Shooting of Dan McGrew" at the Rotary Club's Klondike Night. He couldn't get a release from "Front Page Challenge," which appears on Tuesday nights—the same night (April 24) as the Rotary show opens on board Princess Margaret. Rotarians, incidentally, are anxious that their show should not be confused with another of the same name to be held in Sidney. President-elect Frank Norton says that the April 24-25 event is "the only show in town where every bettor has to walk the gang plank."

In a talk to the Silver Threads recently, Bill Ward, of 2151 Bedford, recalled his early days as a broadcaster in Moose Jaw in 1924.

"People used to blame the radio for everything," he said. "We received threatening phone calls from a man who said our radio waves were rotting his teeth and causing his hair to fall out."

"Whenever there was bad weather, radio was held responsible . . . nowadays, of course, we blame the atom bomb."

When Dean Fred Soward of UBC gives his famous "Year-End Review" speech in Victoria, April 12, an interested spectator will be Lt.-Cmdr. Stuart Soward, who is in charge of the RCN's Utility Services 33 at Pat Bay airport. Son of the eminent professor, Cmdr. Soward has heard his father speak only once—when, as a high school student, he sneaked into a freshman class at UBC to hear how Pop did it.

Former lieutenant-governor Frank Ross, one of three honorary life members of the legislative press gallery (the other two are Boss Johnson and Ned De Beck) paid his annual courtesy visit to the newsmen recently, left behind a box of cigars, and told the boys: "I fit my arrangements these days with my wife's schedule." Mrs. Ross conducts her first convocation as chancellor of UBC May 24. Her husband is looking fine after his recent operations.

Out of approximately 900 ballots cast for two presidential candidates at Victoria College last week, only three were spoiled. One had "neither" printed across it and both of the other two the words, "God help Victoria College."

Earlier, a group of students, flicked one of the polling booths and set it on top of a nearby rock bluff.

Toronto must be the most political sports town in North America. Its local athletes appear to lead the nation in applying for public office.

Lionel Conacher led it off, followed by Bucko MacDonald, Howie Meeker, and now Leaf centreman Red Kelly. Next it likely will be Johnny Bower for minister of defence.

Victoria resident Howard W. Hopwood, 76, is responsible for Canada's air mail stickers bearing maple leaves.

Mr. Hopwood, a retired insurance adjuster from Regina, now living at the Union Club, felt there was a need for some national emblem on Canadian air mail stickers.

He wrote to Ottawa suggesting maple leaves, and recently received a letter from the deputy postmaster-general, W. H. Wilson, thanking him for his suggestion, "which it has been our great pleasure to implement."

Art Roberts has sent out invitations to "clients and friends" for sale of clothing—estimated at $300,000—which survived the recent George Strait fire. Sale will take place Thursday and Friday in an abandoned supermarket at Oak Bay Junction. A localite who has examined the clothing estimates that 95 per cent of it came out of the fire completely undamaged. Strait's will reopen with a completely new stock.

PEACE POWER COST

big Columbia power supply from Mica Creek is available.

● Generation at Mica will then come in between 1971 and 1973 to serve southern B.C.

● Then there are three possibilities for further development of the Peace—the national grid, which Mr. Williston viewed as unlikely; export to the U.S. if allowed; or another delay, bringing the power in step by step to meet B.C. needs.

THREE DAMS

This last plan would go into effect before full development of the Columbia River resources—dams such as Downie Creek and Revelstoke—which would follow completion of Mica Creek, last of the three dams to be built under a treaty with the U.S.

Mr. Williston said the best possible deal would be export to the U.S.

This would do two great things for B.C.: Reduce the unit costs of the Peace project, and as a result, its power rates;

Increase the value of downstream benefits from the Columbia treaty because the U.S. would take Peace power instead of building new thermal plants to fill its own needs.

"This is the greatest return for the people of B.C.," said Mr. Williston.

"There is no other single arrangement worked out by anybody to bring a greater return or establish a better base for industry."

He said that if the export market were available for 10 to 15 years it would be "in the interest of the people of B.C." to take advantage of it.

The 1971-73 period would be the critical time for return of Columbia downstream benefits—that would be the very time that the benefits could decline most rapidly because the U.S. would be building other power plants to take their place.

Mr. Harding launched the debate by charging that the government's power policy changed with the moods of Premier Bennett, then in New York for financial talks.

"Get on the phone to the premier in New York and find out what our power policy is today," he told Mr. Williston.

In 1956 the government campaigned an election on developing the Taku River. This collapsed.

In 1960 it campaigned on Wenner-Gren interests developing the Peace. This had collapsed.

ELECTION YEAR

"Now you come back with your two-river policy because you think this is going to be an election year."

"I hope you come to the people of British Columbia this year. We'll sweep you into the limbo of forgotten men."

Mr. Harding charged that British Columbia had changed its tune on return of the Columbia downstream benefits to this province, after negotiations on the treaty with the United States had been completed.

This return was "right in the treaty" but British Columbia now refuses to bring them back, he said.

Mr. Harding said experts—the British Columbia Energy Board and its consultants, Merz & McLellan, of England—declared that the only way to have a two-river policy was to make massive exports of power.

He said Premier Bennett was leading the government "down suicide row" to a provincial debt of $3,000,000,000 by 1970.

"For goodness sake take another look at your policy and come down to earth."

Mr. Williston denied that British Columbia had changed its position on downstream benefits.

Before the Columbia treaty was signed, negotiating representative Deputy Lands Minister E. W. Bassett had received assurance from Justice Minister E. Davie Fulton that the treaty wouldn't be ratified until B.C. and Ottawa had agreed to disposal of the benefits under Article Eight.

UNALTERED

This allows for downstream benefits to be left in the U.S. "Your representatives from B.C. have never altered that stand," he declared.

If the benefits were returned to B.C. 800,000 kilowatts would be available overnight once Arrow Lakes dam was built.

This power couldn't be stored "15 minutes" to await a B.C. market, and if sold to the U.S. it would mean at a losing price of two mills. This would have to be subsidized by power rates in B.C.

Mr. Perrault complained that every time the Opposition talked about power they were called "obstructionists."

"The only obstructionism is members of the cabinet, obstructionism of the premier and obstructionism of representatives of the government who refuse to give any facts whatsoever of a meaningful nature on power."

Mr. Perrault suggested that B.C. Electric was already building, planning to obtain right-of-way for a power line to the U.S. border for export of Peace power.

"We've got a licence to do it," chipped in Mr. Williston.

SOVIET SONIC BOOMS ECHOING OVER BERLIN

BERLIN (Reuters)—Soviet jet fighters repeatedly broke the sound barrier over West and East Berlin today. Windows in the city were shaken as the jets made their supersonic "bangs." Russia in recent weeks has engaged in campaigns of harassment in the vital air corridors from Berlin to West Germany.

'Treason, Treason' Cry Right-Wingers

PARIS (Reuters)—Right-wing legislators, including some Moslems from Algeria, shouted "treason, treason" in the National Assembly today at the end of a two-day debate on the Algerian cease-fire agreement.

Their target was Louis Joxe, the minister for Algerian affairs, who signed the Franco-Algerian agreements last Sunday. Gaullist deputies banged the lids of their desks and shouted back "O A S murderers."

The interruptions, which lasted several minutes, followed a windup speech by Joxe, who said there would be "no pardon for those who were giving France the appearance of murder and cowardice." Joxe's statement was taken by the deputies as a direct reference to the right-wing Secret Army Organization (OAS).

ESCAPE PLAN FAILS—Meanwhile sources close to the justice ministry said a plan to stage the escape of ex-generals Maurice Challe and Andre Zeller from their prison at Tulle has been foiled.

The escape plan was prepared by an ex-colonel, held in the same jail as the ex-generals who led the generals' putsch in Algiers last April.

Challe and Zeller are serving sentences of 15 years' hard labor. Both have been on hunger strike since the Algerian cease-fire came into force Monday, prison sources disclosed today.

At Feresne Prison near Paris, meanwhile, authorities released Abdelrahmane Fares, former president of the Algerian assembly, who is expected to head the provisional executive in Algeria.

INQUIRY STARTS

Workmen Killed In Rock Slide

PORT RENFREW—An investigation is underway today to determine the cause of a rockslide which took the lives of two men near here Tuesday.

Dead are Edward Paul Beuker, 36, a construction engineer, and George Jonninen, 38, head rock driller.

The two B.C. Forest Products employees were engaged in road construction in the Granite Creek area near this west coast logging community.

Company officials said debris from a blast had just been cleared by a shovel and the face of the cut scaled when Mr. Beuker and Mr. Jonninen walked to a slope beyond the cut to plan further drilling. "The slope gave way without warning carrying the two men down a steep incline," they said.

They were both married and resided at the company's camp located at Port Renfrew. Mr. Beuker immigrated to Canada from Holland 12 years ago. He was the father of three young children.

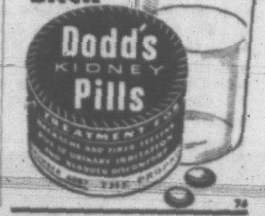

Mr. Jonninen originally came from Finland. Apart from his wife, he is survived by two children.

A coroner's inquest is expected to be held as soon as the company has completed its investigation.

Mrs. Greenwood said there are 6,500 Baha'i centres in 358 countries and territories.

'MOST WANTED' PAIR SEEN NEAR PEACHLAND

VANCOUVER (CP)—RCMP has warned British Columbia lower mainland law enforcement agencies to be on the lookout for two men on Canada's most-wanted criminal list reported seen near Peachland.

Donald Edward Kolof, who escaped last October from the Saskatchewan Penitentiary, where he was serving 10 years for robbery with violence, and Donald William Jones, wanted for escaping custody, were reported seen on Highway 97.

RCMP in Penticton said a man who said he saw the men hitchhiking identified them from police photographs.

It appeared the fugitives, described as dangerous, were heading for the coast, police said.

Champion frostbite sailor of B.C. is Ches Rickard of the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club, following two days of racing in Cadboro Bay over the weekend.

He was closely followed by Victoria's Ned Ashe, a veteran skipper of boats large and small.

Third was Lol Killam of Royal Vancouver and a surprise fourth was Royal Victoria Yacht Club lady champion Carol McClaren.

First half of the annual competition had been held two weeks previously in mainland waters between the two Royal clubs and the West Vancouver club.

A total of 42 little Davidson class boats took part in the five races Sunday. The F. W. Francis Trophy for this series was won by Royal Vancouver's Ed Bottrell followed by Bill McIntosh and Ned Ashe of Victoria.

On Saturday the three clubs competed for the team championship which was won by Royal Vancouver with 1,001 points on the low point scoring system.

Second was Victoria with 1,091 and West Vancouver third with 1,289.

Five races were sailed by the 36 boats and this, like the individual competition, was also the second half of a series.

Burial Plan Controls Proposed

Control of pre-paid funeral plans is proposed in a bill presented to the legislature Tuesday night by Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

It requires that approval of any pre-arranged funeral plan must be given by the Public Utilities Commission which already administers the Cemeteries Act.

Any such plan is subject to cancellation by purchaser or any of his personal representatives at any time, but sections on return of monies contributed vary with time and circumstances.

88 PER CENT BACK
At least 88 per cent of contributions must be returned, plus 5 per cent interest, or better.

If cancellation is by the purchaser or his agent, the seller of the plan may keep up to 12 per cent of monies as penalty.

The PUC may make regulations relating to reports by sellers, trustees and other depositors; conditions for assignment; limitation or prohibition of soliciting pre-paid plans, and generally governing the act.

Sellers of the plans would have to place all monies collected in trust.

Ottawa Asked For 'Freeze' On E & N Sale

The federal government should put a "freeze" on sale of the E & N lands of Vancouver Island, Comox Sound, MLA Dan Campbell told the legislature Tuesday night.

He said that before the CPR sells the vast forest lands problems of access, conservation and recreation must be solved.

The CPR has never lived up to its agreements in this connection, he said. But sale either to one company or through liquidation to a number of logging interests would mean no guarantee the new owners would either.

Mr. Campbell said the sale would mean an immediate "quick slash cut" which could prove harmful to the local log market.

RIGID CONDITIONS
"I don't believe the people of B.C.—and certainly the people of Vancouver Island—should sit still without having pretty rigid conditions on this sale," he said.

"Before any large sale is undertaken we should prevail on the federal government to put a holding order in order to solve access problems," he said.

Mr. Campbell said all the conditions of a regular government forest management licence should apply to the E & N lands, despite the fact they are privately owned.

He said he could understand that a single company such as Crown Zellerbach would not want to pay the reported asking price of $100,000,000.

AN IMPOSITION
But it would be "a ridiculous imposition on the people of B.C." for the government to buy the land.

The CPR owns enough of the province already without forcing it to pay for its own protection.

Herb Bruch (SC—Esquimalt) agreed that it was Ottawa's responsibility to "step in."

Alex Macdonald (NDP-CCF—Vancouver East) said the

CPR wanted to take all its capital and walk away from the area.

Their sole purpose is to get for themselves every dollar and cent they can out of their real estate with no concern for anybody else."

Forests Minister Ray Williston admitted the E and N lands were "a very special problem."

But "they didn't come within our jurisdiction."

One of the problems was that the river beds and lakes had been given to the CPR as well as the lands. This could create trouble with runoff.

Third was Lol Killam of Royal Vancouver and a surprise fourth was Royal Victoria Yacht Club lady champion Carol McClaren.

First half of the annual competition had been held two weeks previously in mainland waters between the two Royal clubs and the West Vancouver club.

A total of 42 little Davidson class boats took part in the five races Sunday. The F. W. Francis Trophy for this series was won by Royal Vancouver's Ed Bottrell followed by Bill McIntosh and Ned Ashe of Victoria.

On Saturday the three clubs competed for the team championship which was won by Royal Vancouver with 1,001 points on the low point scoring system.

Second was Victoria with 1,091 and West Vancouver third with 1,289.

Five races were sailed by the 36 boats and this, like the individual competition, was also the second half of a series.

Burial Plan Controls Proposed

Control of pre-paid funeral plans is proposed in a bill presented to the legislature Tuesday night by Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

It requires that approval of any pre-arranged funeral plan must be given by the Public Utilities Commission which already administers the Cemeteries Act.

Any such plan is subject to cancellation by purchaser or any of his personal representatives at any time, but sections on return of monies contributed vary with time and circumstances.

88 PER CENT BACK
At least 88 per cent of contributions must be returned, plus 5 per cent interest, or better.

If cancellation is by the purchaser or his agent, the seller of the plan may keep up to 12 per cent of monies as penalty.

The PUC may make regulations relating to reports by sellers, trustees and other depositors; conditions for assignment; limitation or prohibition of soliciting pre-paid plans, and generally governing the act.

Sellers of the plans would have to place all monies collected in trust.

Argue Easily Wins Liberal Nomination

ASSINIBOIA, Sask. (CP)—Hazen Argue was nominated Tuesday to contest his Assiniboia seat for the Liberal party in the next federal election.

More than 700 persons, including 382 voting delegates, jammed the hall in this southern Saskatchewan community as the 41-year-old Kayville, Sask. farmer took the nomination on the first ballot over Andy Medwid, a Goodwater, Sask. school principal.

The vote, not announced officially, was reported to be 324 to 57 for Mr. Argue. Public announcement of the vote was that Mr. Argue won by "a fair majority."

LEFT NEW DEMOCRATS

Mr. Argue joined the Liberal ranks with the unanimous approval of Liberal members of Parliament less than a month ago, after snapping his ties with the New Democratic Party with the charge that it was labor dominated. The defection ended 15 consecutive years during which Mr. Argue represented the CCF in the House of Commons.

IS SPUTNIK TV EYE SPYING ON AMERICA?

LONDON (UPI)—The London Daily Mirror's science editor said today that the Russians may be "spying" on America with its new Sputnik launched last weekend and the Pentagon is giving it "careful thought."

The space vehicle, said Ronald Bedford, could have television cameras aboard similar to the ones with which the Russians photographed the far side of the moon.

"They (the Russians) are being usually secretive about the new satellite," the science editor said.

So Near and Yet So Far

EXTERNAL AFFAIRS MINIS-ter Green has scored with his speech at the disarmament conference in Geneva. He confined his remarks to pointing out the numerous points on which East and West have voiced similar proposals, or on which the degree of difference is small. By concentrating on these items in informal discussions, Mr. Green said, significant progress could be made.

The quick result has been that Russia, Britain and the United States have announced their willingness to try once again to fashion a nuclear test-ban treaty. That is still a long, long way from achieving such a treaty, but at least it is progress rather than deterioration.

There can be no doubt that Mr. Green won wide approval for his forthright statement, devoid of official and diplomatic circumspection. He had a message to deliver and he delivered it. It offered hope where stalemate has fostered disillusion.

Mr. Green saw reasonable possibility of agreement on space missiles, a field in which both East and West have urged development for peaceful purposes only. Both the United States and Russia have advanced plans for outpost warning of surprise attacks: here formal agreement should be possible.

Similarly there have been areas of agreement on chemical warfare, use of fissile material for peaceful purposes, and refusal of nuclear weapons to other countries. Both sides have proposed programs for reduction of both conventional and nuclear arms. Mr. Green believes there should be some points on which a common ground may be found, and further progress made from there.

As yet, these are only words; hopeful words, but far from action. The areas of agreement which Mr. Green has pointed out cannot have been unknown to the East-West negotiators. The feeling persists that if they were ready to agree they could rapidly do it.

Mr. Green's appeal cannot change that situation much. But what it has done is to bring the facts out into the open and present them for the nations to see. The nearness to agreement has been demonstrated—now East and West must agree or explain the motives which prevent that nearness from being completed in unity. The response to his words shows that the other countries at Geneva—at least the free ones—are waiting to hear what the replies may be.

Planting the Seed

THE LOGICAL FUTURE OF Victoria—as a predominantly cultural, governmental, residential community—is being given a greater sense of reality by the current expansion of Victoria College. This is a great step forward. But it is by no means a final step. It is part of a continuing progress to be planned and achieved over the coming years.

Greater Victoria has responded in a gratifying manner to the call for funds for College expansion—an expansion, it should be noted, demanded by the rapidly increasing number of students requiring higher education. The financial response was essential, and can by no means be ended yet.

But now, as the College grows, another vein of the community's support must be tapped. A major contribution to realization of the cultural potential of both College and community can be made.

A hint of this development was contained in the informal meeting last week of Art Gallery, Symphony Society and College spokesmen, at which the question of fine arts courses at the College was discussed. The College has already taken some steps in this direction, but lack of funds has curtailed the program while the basic degree courses of the expanded institution are organized to deal with the increasing enrolment.

Winter credit courses in music, painting, drama, sculpture and allied arts are only one phase of this field of education. Great benefit may be derived from adult extension courses and summer courses. It was the general feeling of the recent meeting that Victoria could eventually earn a name as a centre for one or more specific studies—a name which would bring students from all over the continent to take advantage of unique facilities to be offered here.

The approach could be on two fronts, it was felt. The fine arts winter courses of the College should be developed as the demand and financing permit, and employing the best instruction within our means. At the same time outstanding artists and authorities could be brought here for summer courses—men and women whose reputations would ensure widespread attendance at their lectures. It is not too optimistic to hope that some of these might become permanent acquisitions.

It is in this connection that the community can now do itself a service. Specifically, it is hoped that the various cultural divisions of the city—the Art Gallery, the Symphony Society, the drama groups and others—will be able to sponsor summer courses by inviting and financing the attendance of leading authorities in their fields, with a view to building a fine arts department at the College which could become a major asset to the community.

This is by no means a castle in the clouds. Already concrete plans are being discussed for the summer of 1963 and the College has promised full co-operation. It is to be hoped that the cultural groups of the community will rise to the occasion when approached and work toward the long-term goal.

A seed has been planted; who can set a limit to the tree?

An Excellent Acquisition

ONE OF THE MOST WELCOME announcements received from Ottawa this year is the disclosure that Fort Rodd Hill is at last to be opened to the public as a national historic park.

This choice property at the mouth of Esquimalt harbor provides a natural recreation area, with its woods, meadows, small beaches and excellent view of the Strait. But it carries more attraction than that, for it is rich in the history of Greater Victoria and many of the defence installations made in the 1890s are still in evidence. It served as a part of the national defences through the first and second world wars and since 1945 has lain vacant. It was declared surplus in 1956.

Efforts to open the site as a park have been made during the past few years, and it is good news that official delays have now been ended and the park will become an established feature of the local attractions. It should prove popular with residents and visitors alike, and very little expenditure should be needed to prepare it for public use.

Up the Red Ensign!

IN ALL THE RECENT HUBBUB over a national flag for Canada, one fact seems to have become obscured: that an Order-in-Council of 1945 authorized use of the Red Ensign on land as well as sea in this country.

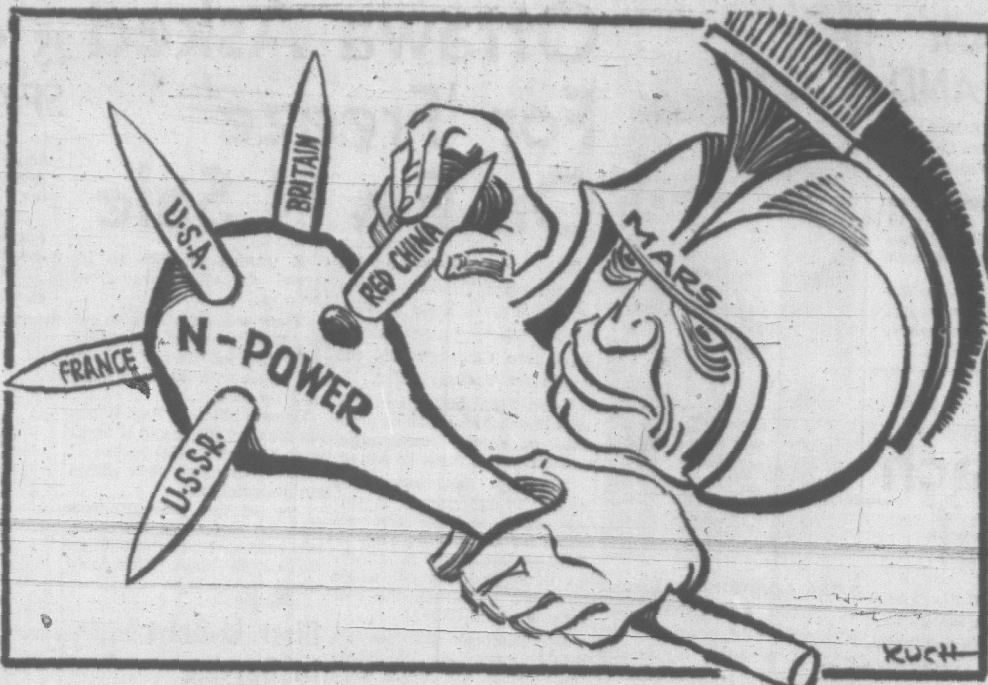

In other words, we already have a flag. Reminding us of this in the Financial Post, veteran commentator Hamish McGeachy says that "controversy arises because some people don't like it." He adds:

"What are the objections to the Canadian flag? One is that the ensign, red or white, is for use at sea only and that flying it on land is a gross solecism. This complaint may be dismissed instantly as immaterial since it applies equally, indeed with greater force, to the Union Jack itself.

"As the word 'Jack' implies, it too is a maritime or naval banner. I have been told by an expert in these theological matters that nobody has any statutory right, at any time, to fly it on land. . . . In law, Canada's red duster, with a Mackenzie King dream and an Order-in-Council behind it, is one up on the Union Jack as an authorized national land flag."

So why don't we stop all this nonsense now—run the Red Ensign up the flagstaff (as the advertising boys like to say) and see if anyone salutes?

By B. A. TOBIN

WELL, gentlemen, I welcome you to this, the first meeting of our Committee for the Consideration and Implementation of the Development of Promotional Projects in Greater Victoria. As you know, the CCIRPPGV has been formed to try to cope with the great number of suggestions being received these days whereby tourists may be attracted to this community and entertained when they arrive. It is felt that we, as businessmen and taxpayers—and we are happy to have some aldermen and councillors among our number—we, I say, should be able to review the various proposals and determine which are the most timely and appropriate for our fair city.

We are proud to note that the community already boasts a London waxworks and a group of Shakespearean houses and it is hoped to add to these very admirable features with other displays of a suitable nature. Already I understand there is talk of an outdoor exhibit of Sherwood Forest.

Now here I have an offer from a group of enterprising development engineers in Chicago who would like to build and operate a Chilean copper mine on some suitable property handy to the business district. They write that they would be prepared to excavate to a considerable depth to provide the proper authenticity for the display, and visitors would be able to travel into the depths of the mine, noting the seams of copper in the tunnel walls, the plastic figures of native Chilean miners, and other realistic detail. The promoters suggest that this would prove an appropriate attraction for residents and tourists alike.

Next we have a detailed plan from a Spanish firm of amusement promoters for a realistic torture dungeon of the time of Torquemada. Visitors would be chained hand and foot and dragged through an underground display, and the exhibits would include authentic victims on the rack, others hung by their thumbs, pierced by spears, boiled in oil, broken on the wheel and so on. The various scenes would be completed by a display of lifelike corpses. The promoters feel that this would be a great drawing card for tourists in the Pacific Northwest and ask for an early reply to their proposal.

Here is another attractive suggestion. It comes from a theatrical display firm in Pittsburgh, which offers to set up an exact replica of the Black Hole of Calcutta. For a reasonable fee visitors would be conducted to the windows of the building and permitted to peer in to view the suffocating crowd battling and tearing at each other for air. Trained performers would be hired to simulate the whole tragic event, and the firm guarantees that every effort will be made to reproduce the exact circumstances, even down to despairing screams, dying gasps and hoarse rattles. It is thought that a performance could be staged every half hour throughout the tourist season, and the firm's letter assures me that no effort has been spared in researching the project in Calcutta itself.

I have also a request from a promotional concern in Waukegan, Illinois, for information on the possibility of constructing here an ancient Aztec outdoor ceremonial theatre for human sacrifice. They urge that this would provide a fitting tourist attraction of wide appeal and would bring a large annual revenue to the city. They would construct the huge amphitheatre from actual photographs of Aztec ruins in Central America, and every detail would be authentic. A postscript to their letter asks if capital punishment is still practiced in Canada and about how many persons a year receive the death sentence, and where they can get in touch with the federal attorney-general. However, I don't know just what they may have in mind in that regard.

Now here is an interesting proposition, gentlemen. A company in New York asks if there is available near the centre of the city a large tract of wasteland. They would like permission and perhaps a civic subsidy to set up a life-size model of a village after it has been wiped out by a hydrogen bomb. They suggest that about 100 acres would be suitable for this, and they would guarantee to create the exact conditions of horror and destruction that the bomb would produce. They even hint that an actual H-bomb explosion might be the easiest way in which the exhibit could be prepared, but this would be open to later negotiation.

As you can see, gentlemen, our fame as a tourist centre is spreading far afield and we are indeed fortunate in having such keen interest shown in our future by these enterprising firms.

And so to work. The meeting is now open for full discussion . . .

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Care to Wager?

Of Vic describes us, picture lovers who dislike Mr. Siebner's efforts, as ill-informed.

Now just what information do we ignorant clods need? What information has Ol' Vic? Let us test him. I'll show him three so-called pictures by even better-known artists than Mr. S. and if he can name the subjects, according to the artist, I'll give $100 to the art gallery, he to give $25 if he fails.

P.S.—I ask Messrs. Graham and Emery can they truthfully say they would have known the above was a picture of Inner Harbor had they not been told?

'High-Rised' to Death

Your recent editorial on the subject of high-rise apartments is most timely, and I fully concur in your summing up. "There are aesthetic considerations, no less important than tax revenues, if a city is to remain attractive."

The very virtues that make such a development desirable can quickly be destroyed. A good example of this is already apparent in another scenic spot in the Pacific, to wit: Waikiki, Honolulu. High-rise apartments are already blotting out the famous scenic vista of Diamond Head, world renowned for its beauty, and now despoiled by 25 storey high-rises, with more to come.

Needless to say, the City Fathers are in quite a dilemma. Having permitted "variances" to previous bylaws controlling such unsuitable developments, they now find their "variances" have become the rule rather than the exception. This is referred to by our councillors as "bending" the rules. Result: uncontrolled high-rises. And the many visitors to Honolulu are now faced with "scenic tropical vistas" of tier upon tier of ugly concrete monstrosities, each one trying to cannibalize the other, competing for whatever view may be left.

One of the direct results of this disfigurement of what was once one of the world's most alluring and romantic spots is that tourists are now being urged by all and sundry to visit the outer Islands of Hawaii, where the true beauty and charm of Hawaii is still unspoiled. There could be a lesson in this for us, and especially for our City Fathers. Will we profit by it? Or will we, too, in Victoria find ourselves suggesting to our visitors, amidst the canyons of 'high-rise' apartments, that they should seek elsewhere to find the charm and beauty that once characterized Victoria and its environs?

'Ingenuous and Impulsive'

In these days of superlative progress, it seems passing strange that there are those among us who question the trend of modern art. The propensity of the chromatic, symbolized by superintellectualism, leaves one dismayed at such colossal, nay stupendous and abysmal lack of faith.

Surely it is obvious that the aesthetic phenomenon, as pictorially expressed, is in direct ratio to the factor of plasticity which is completely autonomous. In other words the visionary transposition of reality is ingenious and impulsive.

Modern art, thus, solves the riddle of the universe and all is crystal clear—even the captions which it spawns.

Let us therefore march onward into the abyss, with chin uplifted, while our flat feet echo down the halls of fame. We must emerge from the murky past into the gloom of an inner harbor ere we take a final plunge into the swamps of oblivion. Like the oven when it's hot, it is apparent that the higher we go the fiercer.

Need More Alert Police

Why is our police force not more alert when being informed of a robbery and shown the results?

I am an elderly woman living here alone while my husband is in hospital and came home after visiting him to find my home in a shambles from a robbery.

I think we older people need more protection. My husband and I are both nearing 80 years of age and don't expect to be treated like that.

It has been a great shock to us both. (Mrs.) P. J. THORNECROFT.

Why Not Commission Critic?

In connection with the recent gift to our city of a painting by a serious and internationally known painter, Mr. Herbert Siebner, and your account of its reception by our city fathers, I have a suggestion to make.

Why not commission artist Eaton to paint a picture, in the style of her late father (for whom no disrespect is intended). I would suggest using our worthy aldermen as models—it seems to me they have so many qualities in common with those used by her father.

Although I am sure the similarities will be immediately apparent to most of your readers, let me point out just a few: that peculiar vacuity of mind, and absence of mental curiosity (or perhaps more correctly, of mental activity) which imparts such a delightful placidity to the bovine expression; that contented chewing on a predigested cud, which makes them look so charmingly smug, and satisfied. But on second thought, I don't think I'm being absolutely fair to the original models of Mrs. Eaton's father—no matter how unexciting cows may be, I have never thought of them as being rude.

Perhaps an allegorical composition, of yapping dogs, snapping at a hand which is offering them meat? But no—this must be strictly representational, and even dogs don't really act that way.

WASHINGTON:

Drama In Defence

By JOSEPH ALSOP

FOR sheer richness of human and political meaning, this town has not seen anything quite like the B-70 row for a very, very long time. The surface facts of the row are familiar enough by now. The Chief of Air Staff, Gen. Curtis LeMay, wants to spend somewhere between $5 and $10 billion on these heavy bombers of the new generation. The House Armed Service Committee, headed by the powerful old

Alsop

"Swamp Fox," Rep. Carl Vinson, has taken the unprecedented step of "directing" the Defence Department to give Gen. LeMay what he wants.

Secretary of Defence Robert McNamara is grimly determined not to give Gen. LeMay what he wants, because he is convinced the money will be wasted. The result has been a direct clash between McNamara and LeMay, two of the most formidable personalities to appear in the U.S. government in the last quarter-century.

The clash has produced good stories, as might be expected. At one moment, the Secretary of Defence, who can deploy facts and figures on the scale of the Normandy landings, was trying to overwhelm LeMay with all the facts and figures unfavorable to the B-70.

Firm Finality

The General, not an easy man to overwhelm, barely removed his famous cigar in order to answer, with firm finality: "I never believe any statistics except my own."

Besides good stories, this clash has also come close to producing exceedingly serious results. It may yet do so, in truth, if the "directive" of Rep. Vinson is not watered down somewhere along the long legislative road. Two weeks ago, McNamara was within an ace of asking for LeMay's resignation, even though he has truthfully described the General as "one of the two or three great fighting leaders of this American generation."

Here, you might suppose, is drama enough for any governmental episode, but beneath the surface this particular episode has two additional, almost invisible themes which are really more dramatic than the clash itself.

One is the theme, ever-recurring in non-fossilized military services, of the conflict of wills involved in changes of doctrine.

Cavalrymen ran the U.S. Army, and cavalry doctrine was U.S. Army doctrine, for instance, until the retirement, in the late 30s, of Gen. Malin Craig. Then Franklin Delano Roosevelt, following the advice which Gen. Pershing gave the President from his sickbed, reached down among the very junior generals to make George C. Marshall Chief of Staff in succession to Craig.

Change in Doctrine

The result was a change in doctrine, ending a long conflict. The ideas of the General Staff officers and the War College-trained men replaced the ideas of the cavalrymen when Roosevelt chose Marshall instead of the cavalry candidate, the forgotten Gen. Hugh Drum.

In the U.S. Navy, the inter-war years were marked by an equally ferocious conflict of wills and doctrine. But the battleship admirals only surrendered to the carrier admirals when the Prince of Wales and the Repulse went down in the Gulf of Siam.

In the Air Force today, by the same token, it is noteworthy that the Air Staff's B-70 brief was prepared with no help even requested from the brilliant Under Secretary, Joseph Charyk, or from the equally brilliant Chief of Research and Development, Gen. Benjamin Schriever.

Sharyk and Schriever are the missile-men, in the same position today as the carrier admirals in the 30s. Gen. LeMay and the Secretary of Air Force, Eugene Zuckert, are the big bomber-men, really in the same position as the battleship admirals of the past, although they heartily detest the comparison.

Eventually, one may be certain, the old doctrine will give way to the new doctrine; but the process of replacement, as always, is neither easy nor painless.

More Surprising

As for the other sub-theme of the B-70 drama, it is even more interesting and surprising. This country has been fortunate to have such Secretaries of Defence as James V. Forrestal and Robert A. Lovett. But we have never had a Secretary of Defence, nor any other civilian official in the Pentagon, who has attempted what McNamara is now attempting.

What McNamara is attempting has, in fact, only been accomplished twice in this century, by Lord Haldane in the British War Office, and by Elihu Root in the U.S. War Department, in the years before the First World War.

McNamara is attempting nothing less than a thorough-going reform, modernization, and rationalization of the huge, sprawling, powerful, generally admirable, but always reform-resistant armed services of the United States.

Hence the money that may be wasted is a secondary issue in the B-70 fight. The true issue is McNamara's authority to carry through this vast reform and modernization. The betting is on McNamara, and this is fortunate despite LeMay's great qualities.

Precious Salvage

When Augustus John was at the Slade School, his fellow-students used to search through waste-paper baskets for fragments of drawings that he'd torn up and thrown away, and they would carefully piece them together and mount them up. To the present day collectors have continued to seek out his drawings with similar enthusiasm—an enthusiasm that, I believe, posterity will justify.

—Sir John Rothwell, Director of London's Tate Gallery.

A Scarcity of Badgers

TWENTY-FIVE years or so ago we used to laugh at the attacks on the badgers carried on by the late Andy Lytle, sports editor of a Vancouver paper.

The badgers were unpaid officials who worked on amateur athletic events. To Andy they were a race of parasites whose sole aim in life was to get for themselves free trips to big sports shows. In his opinion they shared two characteristics, a well-stuffed shirt and a penchant for autocracy. The old sports editor dipped a blunt pen in ink to write about them.

At that time, badgering the badgers was a popular hobby. It's revived only occasionally nowadays, as, for instance, when somebody tees off on Avery Brundage, the top man in the United States AAU.

The theory, I guess, was that the athletes were the only people who counted, the officials just a self-important bunch of hangers-on. It made a sort of sense to all of us who thought we were athletes and agreed that nothing was too good for us.

The years have rolled by since I abandoned the idea that I was an athlete. For the last 20 or thereabouts, I've been a sort of badger, thinking that by being one I was helping to stage events for youngsters still in their competitive days.

You see, you can't have a diving competition unless you have at least three judges, a referee and a couple of recording secretaries. For the city championships last Friday night, it took half a dozen badgers to handle the show for less than a dozen divers—and the adult officials put in about three hours of their time without compensation in order to pick winners in five age categories.

Of the half-dozen, there were only two or three of us who were paying back, to a new generation, the service given to us when we were competitors. The others worked from the goodness of their hearts. At plumbers' wages the amount of time on a man-hour basis would have cost about $36.

Some of us were gratified beyond measure when a couple of little boys who had been diving tanks us after the show. That was the extent of our recompense.

Not that we felt unappreciated. We were not concerned with that. But as one of the men who recruited officials, I was impressed by the difficulty of finding suitable people for the job. It took a couple of days to round up enough judges to stage the event.

I was grumbling about finding officials to Bob Johnstone, who ran the whole aquatic meet.

"You're having trouble getting half a dozen," he commented. "How do you think I'm making out trying to get three dozen or so?"

It isn't that parents of competitors are unwilling to help. Any number of them will put in an evening at the chore and be glad to. But most parents of competitors just don't know enough about their youngsters' particular sports to be competent officials. It's something that has to be learned.

Anyhow, parents are at a disadvantage. If their kids are competing, someone can always raise the point that fathers and mothers may be prejudiced and that the result could be unfortunate for the sons and daughters of other parents.

The point is, though, that officials should know what they're doing and inspire confidence in their abilities as officials. It's easy enough to sit in the gallery and see who won a swim race—or is it? Did the youngster whose hand hit the pool end above water first win? Or was it the other kid who touched under water? Or was he disqualified and did some other finisher actually win?

See what I mean? And that's a fairly simple job as officiating goes. So, while a vast number of Canadians make with their mouths about our inefficient way of developing athletes, and holler for more money to finance our kids, maybe a larger percentage of them ought to do something about qualifying as decent officials to help stage the competitions which make competitors.

It was all good, though not necessarily clean, fun when Andy Lytle was spearing badgers with a blunt pen years ago. But the species is in short supply now. If we want athletes we need competent people to run shows for them. And gaining competency calls for something more than sitting in the stands decrying the dough-heads who are calling the shots for free down below.

INCOME TAX TIPS

(Fifteenth of a Series)
By GORDON A. HOLMS, C.A.

I hope the wisdom in this series has relieved the pain of income tax. Wisdom is knowing what to do next, skill is knowing how to do it and virtue is in doing it—therefore, let's get on with it.

Victoria has many salesmen and salesladies and they, in common with other classes of taxpayers, are subject to tax upon the income received by them.

Salesmen's income arises from commissions either paid in cash or credited to an account against which he can draw. Commission amounts credited to accounts against which the salesman can draw have been deemed by Ottawa to be income in the year of credit.

However, the Income Tax Appeal Board has contended, in a series of decisions, that an individual reporting his income on a cash basis is not required to pay a tax thereon until he has actually withdrawn the cash credited to him. Sometimes the amount credited with this income cannot be freely drawn upon by a salesman. If you are a salesman and in doubt—consult a professional accountant about your position.

NOT SUBJECT TO TAX

A salesman's travelling allowance is not subject to tax as long as the amount is reasonable and is used in connection with the selling of property or negotiating of contracts for the employer.

Did you know that gratuities which are received by an employee by virtue of his employment are considered to be income from the employment? We understand small gifts of $25 or less made by an employer to an employee at Christmas or on some other special occasion are not considered to be income by Ottawa.

The value of board and lodgings furnished by an employer to an employee constitutes income to the employee except in the case of certain construction workers. Special provisions exist in the act to exempt from tax board and lodging allowances and travelling allowances paid to construction workers at a construction site away from their homes. These are lengthy provisions and if they concern you, please consult the boys in the Belmont Building.

EXEMPTIONS

The act provides that an employee must pay tax upon the value of benefits of any kind whatsoever which are received and enjoyed by the employee by virtue of his employment. However, Ottawa is kind and does exempt from tax certain benefits:

1. Employer contributions to a registered pension plan.
2. Employer contributions to a group life plan, group sickness or accident plan, and medical services plan.
3. Employer contributions to a supplementary unemployment or deferred profit sharing plan.

A must for salesmen is some type of diary to record expenses chargeable against their commissions. The qualities of a good salesman frequently make him a poor bookkeeper, which in turn throws him on the mercy of the tax collector. Ottawa allows salesmen not only cash expenses but also depreciation on their car and office equipment. If you are in doubt about your position consult a professional accountant.

If you have any questions about an income tax problem, send them along to this column. Address them to: Income Tax Tips, c/o The Victoria Daily Times, P.O. Box 300, Victoria, and we shall endeavor to answer them.

'Explain or Resign' Demand By Liberal on Atomic Arms

By JOHN E. BIRD

OTTAWA (CP)—The opposition threw another nuclear attack at Defence Minister Harkness in the Commons Tuesday.

He sat through a four-hour verbal bombing without yielding to demands for details of how the government intends to use its nuclear weapons carriers.

Liberal speakers accused him of contempt of Parliament for refusing to explain how the defence forces will acquire nuclear weapons in the event of war.

Opposition Leader Pearson said Parliament is entitled to know how nuclear warheads would be obtained for Bomarc missiles and Voodoo interceptors for home defence and the CF-104 low-level attack bomber for use in Europe.

Mr. Harkness should explain or resign, said Paul Hellyer (L-Toronto Trinity) and Paul Martin (L-Essex East).

The defence minister said he did not plan to make a policy statement on the use of nuclear weapons by Canadian forces. The government's position had been made clear on a number of previous occasions.

It was Mr. Harkness' second straight day on the nuclear arms griddle.

The defence minister protested the repetitious probing of his critics.

He accused the Liberals of trying to confuse the public on the government's nuclear policy.

Most of the debate centred around reports of statements attributed to Prime Minister Diefenbaker at Edmonton last month.

Mr. Pearson said the reports quoted Mr. Diefenbaker as giving credence to a report that nuclear arms can be made available to Canada within 30 minutes to one hour in event of an emergency.

Mr. Harkness denied that Mr. Diefenbaker had ever said that. However, Mr. Pearson insisted that the prime minister's statement gave credence to reports that this would be the case.

Such a statement on nuclear defence, Mr. Pearson said, was the most preposterous and absurd ever made by a leader of a Canadian government.

The government's position was that if and when war broke out the government would make a decision on how nuclear arms would be acquired.

"It takes 17 minutes for an intercontinental ballistic missile from Asia to reach North America," Mr. Pearson said.

"During these 17 minutes the minister will decide whether or not the Bomarc missile is to have a nuclear warhead. During these 17 minutes he has also to decide whether it is possible to get an agreement with the U.S. government to make possible the acquisition of nuclear warheads."

Fishermen Urged To Affiliate

VANCOUVER (CP)—The annual convention of the Independent United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union, Tuesday recommended its local unions affiliate with the New Democratic Party despite differences in foreign policy.

Victoria crab fisherman Elgin Neish and union organizer Ted Foort took the place of the two Cuban labor officials the government refused to allow into Canada for the convention.

Mr. Neish and Mr. Foort told the convention the Castro regime is solid and the people are enthusiastically for Castro and his socialist program.

Tomatoes Grow in Abundance

Some local gardeners declare it impossible to grow a crop of tomatoes, while others produce an abundance every year.

The secret, of course, is to start early and to use varieties suited to the local climate.

If you already have a variety which does well, start with it. If you are looking for a variety to grow, do not assume that any packet of seed on display must be the kind to use here. In the seed catalogue I advised all gardeners to get for reference, you will note that the time for planting-out to maturity varies from 56 days to 80 days (8 weeks to 12 weeks). These times are for the good tomato growing areas of Canada, and we, on the outer fringe, have to add a little for our more moderate climate.

The 56 to 65-day varieties are our best bet, and among these there should be one to suit every soil and every taste. The seed should be sown indoors not later than this coming week and germinated in about 36 hours with a temperature of 70 degrees F.

As soon as germination is evident, remove the seed box to a cooler place (a sunny window) with good light. When seedlings are large

FULTON HITS LIBERALS

'Yesterday's Cynics Are Today's Saviors'

SACKVILLE, N.B. (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton said Tuesday Canadians should remember that the Liberals seeking office in the next election are the same men punished by the electorate in 1957 for callous, cynical, unprincipled and disgraceful conduct.

"The cynics of yesterday are the saviors of today," he said at the Mount Allison University radio forum broadcast in the Maritimes. His address was the third in a series which included Liberal Opposition Leader Pearson last week and T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader, two weeks ago.

When the Progressive Conservatives came to power in 1957, Mr. Fulton said, the economy had come almost to a halt and political institutions after 22 years of Liberal rule had been undermined, abused, defiled and almost whipped and beaten.

The voters "properly punished the Liberals for their callousness, for their cynicism, for their unprincipled and disgraceful conduct, for the way in which they compromised themselves as a democratic government."

Bill to Regulate Investment Deals

Policing of investment contracts in British Columbia is spelled out in a new bill presented to the legislature Tuesday by Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

The legislation would force registration of all investment deals and companies involved in investment contracts and filling of all contracts with the superintendent of insurance.

It would not apply to investment companies which come under the Securities Act, issuing savings certificates and securities, nor to insurance companies.

It is aimed at corporations which sell or deal in contracts of their own issue.

The legislation allows the superintendent to approve and set interest rates and police the investment contract trade from fraudulent practices.

PROTECT PUBLIC

It would also protect members of the public against losing a large part of their investment if they backed out of a deal.

The legislation insists that the investment company at all times has enough reserves to meet all outstanding contracts.

It allows the superintendent of insurance to inspect books or records of salesmen and companies at any time.

Penalties are up to $5,000 for registration and filing violations and up to $500 for other infractions.

Tradition Shattered In London

LONDON (Reuters) — The London Stock Exchange shattered a centuries-old tradition Tuesday by announcing it has decided to advertise its services.

The move follows an advertising campaign in British newspapers by the American stockbroker firm of Merrill Lynch offering its services for buying shares in Wall Street.

The stock exchange advertisements will only be a corporate campaign to "educate the people" as to what the exchange does.

Exchange chairman, Lord Ritchie, announcing the decision said he believed many people think saving and investing is a gloomy affair.

On the contrary, he said, "investment — not speculation — is fun."

Northgate Plans Ore Pipeline

TORONTO (CP) — Northgate Explorations Ltd., Canadian mining company, says it plans to transport lead, silver, copper and zinc concentrates by pipeline from its property at Tynagh in Ireland's Galway County to Galway Bay.

The company is currently conducting surveys to establish the best possible route for the pipeline, which would be about 30 miles long, to transport the ore concentrates in fluid form from the property to a treatment plant and harbor at Galway Bay.

The survey will also include the Galway Bay area with a view to establishing sites for possible docks, power plant, treatment plant and disposal areas.

Firm Fears Inflationary Wage Pacts

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — U.S. Steel Corp., in its annual report to stockholders, said today that inflationary wage contracts could cost the nation its position as world economic and industrial leader.

Robert Tyson, chairman of the firm's finance committee, said the theory of basing contract settlements on the steel industry's productivity is an unsatisfactory process.

"The notion appears to be that if an enterprise or industry learns how to produce more efficiently then it can pay more to its employees without raising its products' prices," Tyson said.

"But if more money is paid to those having jobs, then there is less available for rehiring those previously unemployed, thus rendering unemployment chronic."

HALT 'LEAPFROG'

Tyson called on union leaders to halt their "game of leapfrog up the ladder of inflation" through their "unfortunate rivalry."

Roger M. Blough, chairman of the Board of U.S. Steel, said the company is meeting its economic challenges, and responsibilities to the nation in building for the future through "the investment of billions of dollars in costly and complex plant (SIC) and equipment."

The report listed income of $109.2 million for 1961, a drop of $114 million from the previous year. Blough said the decrease was caused by lulls in orders during the first two quarters of the year.

Oil Capital Likes Stability

CALGARY (CP) — Canada attracts initiative and capital for its oil and gas development because it is politically stable, Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta said Tuesday night.

But he urged 600 industry executives to remember that stability means honest government reflecting public wishes. That kind of government, he said, must insist that industry does not use its freedom and power to oppress.

Mr. Manning spoke to the annual dinner of the Canadian Petroleum Association in defence of new regulations now before the Alberta legislature.

He said the relaxation of rules on oil and gas leases, reservations, licences, and permits is meant to help exploration and increase field reserves which are "not as large as any of us would like to see."

Stiffer royalty rates, on the other hand, were in "no sense related to any philosophy that the petroleum industry should be bled for every cent the industry can stand."

The public owns 90 per cent of Alberta resources and it was the government's duty to obtain an "equitable and reasonable return on those resources."

Call to Battle Meets Apathy

An impassioned call to battle against the government's dumping of transit buses on municipal taxpayers fell on deaf ears in intermunicipal committee Tuesday.

Oak Bay Coun. Allan Cox, backed by Esquimalt Coun. James Bryant, strongly argued that civic leaders should fight the government's decision.

Coun. Cox insisted that the municipalities should demand the retail power distribution franchise of B.C. Electric if they had to take the buses so that profits and losses could be balanced.

"If we don't speak for the people, who's going to speak for them?" he asked. "It will be too late in a general election."

"Isn't it time that the municipalities spoke for the people?"

'Enough Said'—Wilson

Mayor R. B. Wilson, chairman of the meeting, suggested enough had been said "about this particular subject for now" and the committee should proceed with other business.

Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch said the municipalities would have to assume the bus system when the franchise ran out in 1967 and the service was so vital that "it

Will Lose Opportunity

"If I think we could have a very serious quarrel with the government but if we take up a fight, we will lose our opportunity for exerting pressure," replied Coun. Cox.

"I don't accept the position that 150,000 people have to get down on their knees to the government."

"We've got a pretty big voice in this thing. Along with Greater Vancouver we have more than 50 per cent of the population of this province and that gives us a pretty big voice."

"But if it's not going to be

Joint Meeting Suggested

Saanich Reeve Stanley Murphy suggested a joint meeting of the four councils should be held "to thrash this thing out."

But Reeve Murdoch said the expert study should be conducted before the four municipal councils discuss it "or we'll just have confusion."

Guilty Youth Given Time For Exams

A 19-year-old youth Tuesday was given time to write his Grade 12 Easter exams before being sentenced following admission of a burglary charge.

"It is most unusual for this to be done in view of the gravity of your offence," Magistrate William Ostler told Oliver McLellan, 2836 Inez, in Saanich police court. "You'd better pass those exams!"

BROKE INTO STORE

Saanich police detective Wilfred Walton said that McLellan, with a 17-year-old accomplice, used a 2-by-4 to gain entrance into a Safeway store in the 3400 block, Tillicum Road.

They stole nine cartons of cigarettes valued at $27, he said.

Def. Walton said McLellan was questioned at his home a short while later and said he had been to a party. He could give no reason for breaking into the store.

Magistrate Ostler told the youth he would be freed on $1,000 bail because of the "eloquent plea" made on his behalf by lawyer Edmund J. de St. Jorre.

Mr. St. Jorre suggested McLellan would be of "far more use to society writing his exams than he would in the lock-up."

"One has to have at least Grade 12 or one encounters grave difficulty these days in trying to hold down a position," he said.

McLellan was ordered to face the court again April 3 for probation report and sentence.

News of the breaking into the store was reported in the Victoria Daily Times.

Newspaper Ads Preferred By Restaurateur

TORONTO (CP)—The small restaurant operator can get more from newspaper advertising than radio advertising, delegates to the Canadian Restaurant Association convention were told Tuesday.

R. G. Crompton of Port Arthur, Ont., speaking during a panel discussion, said newspaper advertising has been more effective in stimulating business than has radio.

"Two years ago 70 per cent of our budget was allocated to radio and 25 per cent to newspaper. Then a year ago we switched this proportion and have enjoyed more successful results. In my opinion, newspapers are a better medium for the small operator," Mr. Crompton said.

Canadian Destroyer To Visit Amsterdam

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—The Canadian destroyer Crescent, based at Halifax, will pay an informal visit to Amsterdam at the invitation of The Netherlands Navy, March 23 to 31.

The Crescent has been carrying out exercises with ships of The Netherlands Navy and other NATO countries in the Mediterranean.

New Law 'Sets Humanity Back 1,000 Years'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A British Columbia Supreme Court Justice Tuesday reserved decision on an application to have the assets of the provincially-owned B.C. Electric Co. frozen.

Mr. Justice H. W. MacInnis had heard five hours of debate during which a lawyer said legislation now before the B.C. legislature "sets humanity back 1,000 years."

The B.C. Power Corporation, parent company of the B.C. Electric when the government expropriated it for $111,000,000 last August, seeks the appointment of a receiver to freeze

BCE assets pending the outcome of a suit challenging takeover legislation.

Two bills—The power corporation made the request for a receiver as a result of two bills presented in the House last week which would merge the B.C. and its assets with the B.C. Power Commission and bar suits against the company except by government permission.

In another case the Power Corporation is seeking to have the August takeover legislation declared invalid and, failing that, to have the court determine what the government should pay for the BCE.

Douglas McK. Brown, corporation counsel, said the government has presented the new legislation because it begins to look as if the corporation may win its suit.

If the legislation became law, "1,000 years of human struggle will be thrown away."

M. M. McFarlane, counsel for the attorney-general, assured the court it was not the intention of the legislation to bar the corporation from challenging the validity of the takeover legislation.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—There are certain "Secret Givers" around Broadway and Hollywood—those charities I'm going to expose.

Frank Sinatra's known for quietly phoning somebody who has been sick and unlucky to say, "Don't worry about your hospital bills." ... Milton Berle staked Lillian Roth, when she was drinking and down and out, to a whole new life. ... Milton Blackstone went for $25,000 to launch his protégé, Eddie Fisher. ... Seymour Weiss, down in New Orleans, is the type who hands a friend a signed cheque and says, "Put in any amount you need." ... Max Aspas, of Stage Delicatessen seems determined to give away all of himself.

"SPREAD IT AROUND" is their philosophy. Not biblical language, but understandable. Even agents—those wicked 10 per centers!

I was getting my crewcut fixed at the Stage Barber Shop. I heard talk about Broadway's greatest hollerer, agent Joe Glaser, representative of Louis Armstrong and other stars. "Joe spent all day Saturday phoning around to find a silver grey miniature poodle to replace my daughter's dog that got killed by a hit-run car," said Barber Pete Castellotti. "Did we all, he got two dogs!"

FRED ALLEN was the greatest secret giver.

Gus Clark, now in Detroit, writes me that "way back in '34 when he was in show business here, Fred said: 'How you fixed for dough? Here's twenty. Go see a show.'"

Two days later, Fred said: "How you fixed for dough? Here's ten. Go see a show."

Fred repeated it the next week—and it's remembered 28 years later, a considerable slice of time.

I submit that the above is not exactly a news beat—but maybe it's as important as three items about Who's Cheatin' on Who.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL...

Wait'll Zsa-Zsa hears that "State Fair" has "the sweetest looking fat hawg you ever saw" named Zsa Zsa. ... Bette Davis has been offered the "Rebecca" TV show April 8—and Fred Coe, the director, is optimistic. ... Bess Myerson made it quite clear at El Moroco that she's real daffy about her fiancé, Atty. Arnold Grant. ... Tommy Sands owns a piece (3/4) of welterweight Emil Griffiths. ... Ed Anthony's "O Rare Don Marquis" is a heluva chunk of wonderful reading. ... Six-foot ex-showgirl Gloria Kristy landed the choice courtesan role in Zero Mostel's "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum." George Abbott's 81st B'way show. ... Is Pat Weaver, er, ex-NBC prez, going to head another network? (Warm up, Doodles!)

Pier Angeli, 28, will become a step-grandmother soon (via her new husband's dfl.). ... 20th Century-Fox says its film, Hemingway's "Adventures of a Young Man," will feature "the ancient architecture of Italy and the modern architecture of Susan Strasberg."

EARL'S PEARLS: An optimist is a guy who gets a haircut or orders hash in a strange neighborhood.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Bob Hope, preparing his TV'er for Thursday, says he has only one problem with television: "I'm always too busy to watch it."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: A hick town is one where you never have to waste time wondering which movie to see. Red Buttons, who filmed "Hawaii" in Africa, "Longest Day" in France, and "One, Two, Three" in Germany, says actors no longer need booking agents—they need travel agents. That's earl, brother.

Revelstoke Preparing For Byelection

The B.C. cabinet has authorized revision of the list of voters in Revelstoke, unrepresented in the legislature since the death of George Hobbs in January.

A cabinet order sets up the machinery for a new list of registered voters in preparation for a possible by-election. The by-election would have to be in September, at the latest. However, Premier Bennett has threatened to call a general election this year—and there may never be a by-election in Revelstoke.

How to Reduce Swollen, Painful Piles

Relieve Itching, Soreness and Pain without ointments, pile pipes or suppositories

Here is a nice, clean, easy way to shrink or reduce swollen, painful piles without the inconvenience of ointments, pile pipes or suppositories. The secret is in taking just one small Hem-Road Tablet, with water, two or three times a day. By effective INTERNAL action this mild but gently persistent medicine causes constipation, helps break up and smoothly pass off hardened intestinal waste, relieves itching, soreness and pain, helps shrink piles and permits them to heal. Hem-Road is so easy to use, so pleasant and satisfying in giving

TCA Fare Hike 'Unavoidable'

OTTAWA (CP)—Unveiling the biggest loss of its 24-year history, Trans-Canada Air Lines said Tuesday some upward adjustment in its domestic passenger rates "appears unavoidable."

Delay in Trial 'Inconvenient' For Witnesses

Patrick N. Newman, HMCS Jonquiere, charged in city police court with intimidation, took a back seat during his own case Monday as prosecutor, defence counsel and magistrate argued over a date for trial.

Defence counsel Michael Warren asked for an adjournment to prepare his case.

Prosecutor Angus Smith wanted to proceed with the case immediately as he had called all the Crown witnesses "including a sizeable portion of the police force" to court.

"One of them even cancelled a fishing trip," said Mr. Smith. "It is most inconvenient to have these officers come here needlessly," said Magistrate Ostler. "Most of them are off duty and those that are on duty are urgently needed elsewhere."

"I hope counsel will co-operate more closely in future," he said. Newman was remanded to Thursday.

PUBLIC HEARING SET

A public hearing will be held in Saanich to consider an application for permission to build a nine-hole golf course at Prospect Lake.

The applicant and owner of the property situated at the south end of the lake is Andrew R. McGregor.

At the same hearing, the application of William Matlick for permission to operate a miniature railroad at his farm at Cordova Bay, will be considered.

The date of the hearing has not yet been set by municipal clerk Gordon Hayward.

SHELFORD TELLS LEGISLATURE

'Morale Poor' in Forest Fire Crews

Deserting a forest fire line should be just as serious an offence as deserting an army firing line, Social Credit Minister Cyril Shelford said Tuesday.

The Omnica MLA deplored poor morale among B.C. firefighters.

He said that forest service officials should be given much more authority over the crews they enlist.

"There should be quite a stiff term for refusing to obey orders," he said.

If necessary firefighting should be put under control of the army, he added.

COFFEE BREAKS

Mr. Shelford said he knew of fires where "the people in charge were down in camp drinking coffee" instead of directing operations.

He said crews also gave up when water bombers were sent.

TOURANE, South Viet Nam (AP) — Vietnamese troops flown in by U.S. helicopters have cleared a Communist-ridden valley in central Viet Nam, but the bulk of the Communists apparently escaped, senior American advisers on the scene reported Monday.

Forest Committee Asks Curb on Big Operators

BILL SEEKS PAYMENT FOR MLA'S WIDOW

A special bill providing a $5,000 sessional indemnity to the widow of an MLA who died this year was presented to the legislature Tuesday.

Revelstoke NDP-CCF member George Hobbs, 54, died of a heart attack here Jan. 30, just after the opening of the session. The bill provides that his widow, Margaret Frances Hobbs, will get the money.

"It is fitting that the legislature and the people of B.C. acknowledge his public service by making the grant," says the bill.

LIABILITY LEGISLATION

Auto Insurance Boost to $35,000

Legislation bumping the "pink slip" liability auto insurance minimum $10,000 to $35,000 was introduced Tuesday.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner presented amendments to the Insurance Act in the legislature boosting the minimum all-inclusive coverage from $25,000.

Only last year the legislature approved a boost in coverage from $10,000.

The new minimum applies to death, injury and property damage insurance.

It will go into effect June 1.

MAXIMUM CLAIM

At the same time the government is amending the Motor Vehicle Act to increase the maximum claim for accidents involving drivers without insurance.

Victims of such mishaps are covered by the Traffic Victims Indemnity Fund. The non-profit fund now will pay up to $35,000 for claims.

However, this will not go into effect until Jan. 1, 1963.

Other amendments to the insurance act provide:

An increase from 3 to 4 per cent payable in interest payable for annuities;

Use of new, modern tables by the insurance business for calculating benefits and premiums.

Irrevocable declaration of a life insurance beneficiary instead of the present method of a statutory trust naming a "preferred" beneficiary;

That a grandchild can be added to the list of legal beneficiaries.

All these provisions will come into effect after a proclamation by cabinet order.

Island Librarians Meet Here

Librarians from all over Vancouver Island will gather for a Librarians' Institute to be held by Victoria College in the faculty building on Gordon Head Campus all day Saturday, April 7.

The program will include an opening address by Dr. Roy Watson, associate professor of sociology and anthropology at the college, on changing patterns in B.C. society.

Main speaker at the institute will be Miss Rose Vansteijn, associate professor at the school of librarianship at UBC. She will speak on the "challenge and opportunity" for B.C. librarians in the next decade due to changing patterns of society.

Miss Vansteijn, a native of Edmonton, was educated and spent most of her life in the U.S., where she was public library specialist for the U.S. Office of Education, before coming to UBC in 1961. She is a graduate of librarian schools at Miami University in Ohio, Western Reserve University in Cleveland, and the University of Illinois.

Remainder of the program is made up of discussion groups.

Librarian at the college, Dean Halliwell, said that this is the first year the college has held such an institute, but that if it proves successful, hopes to make it an annual event.

Approximately 40 government, public, school, and college librarians are expected to attend this year.

MOVED today from prison cell near Tel Aviv to the Jerusalem court building, Adolf Eichmann awaits start of his appeal on Thursday. He was sentenced to death last year for complicity in death of 6,000,000 Jews.

A special legislative committee giving small logging operators a break against competition of giant firms accused of gobbling up the cream of B.C.'s forest resources.

The forestry committee tabled a report which MLAs will later decide whether or not to accept.

It makes two major recommendations:

1. It urges study of a system of quotas giving a fair chance to small firms to win bids for timber in public working circles;

2. It urges prodding the big companies to get cracking and cut large timber stands which they have held for many years with no time limit on harvesting.

MORE COMPETITIVE

These moves would in effect make a more competitive log market and put curbs on the big companies which can outbid and outbuy the small operators.

The committee, headed by Cyril Shefford (S.C.-Omineca), rejects requests made in public briefs to change zoning and stumpage fees.

Abandoning minimum stumpage fees would only slash crown revenue, it said.

The committee said it was concerned that control of timber in the public sale areas was falling into the hands of the big companies, which already hold huge exclusive farm licences.

STUDY SOUGHT

It asks for a study this year of all timber sales in the Vancouver forest district to see if this is happening.

The study would be referred to the forestry committee at next year's session.

It is hoped that this might discourage the big firms from grabbing off more public timber.

However, legislative action next year would be possible.

CHATTERLY FREE LOVE?

Will Lady Chatterly be taxed at UBC?

Removal of religious and text book taxes drew notice in the legislature Tuesday of opposition MLA Tony Garrahy (NDP-CCF McKenzie).

"I'm gratified to see you are lifting the sales tax on text books," he said to Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

"But I'm holding my breath to see how you define text books. Does this mean if a professor assigns 'Lady Chatterly's Lover' for study in English 200, it will be tax-free?"

Mr. Bonner's laughter was non-committal.

Blood Chemistry Find Said 'Revolutionary'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A scientist reported Tuesday discovery of a chemical middle-man in the blood-clotting process that could revolutionize research on cerebral strokes, heart attacks and some blood vessel diseases.

Biochemist Walter Seegers of Wayne State University college of medicine, Detroit, said, he had found in human blood a previously overlooked clotting aid called "autoprothrombin C." The development "promises to revolutionize the entire perspective of research on thrombosis and hemorrhagic disease," he said.

Thrombosis is the undesired process of blood-clotting inside a blood vessel. Such a clot in a vessel feeding the brain can cause a stroke, and clotting inside a vessel feeding the heart can cause a coronary thrombosis, popularly known as a heart attack.

Hemorrhagic diseases, such as hemophilia, are those in which the blood fails to clot at times when it should—for example, in an open wound.

Seegers announced the discovery in a report made public by the American Chemical Society on the eve of its 141st national meeting.

FINGERPRINT LEGISLATION INTRODUCED

Security Patrolmen Regulated

New legislation introduced in the House Tuesday would force private security patrolmen to be finger-printed and carry an identification card, as private detectives.

Although municipalities have created their own bylaws governing private patrols, such as Western Home Guard Ltd., the proposed legislation is the first provincial regulation.

Brought in by Attorney-General Robert Bonner, the legislation would amend the Private Detectives' Licensing Act, and makes the business of private detective include that of "watching, guarding, or patrolling for the protection of persons or property."

Neither private patrolmen nor private detectives will be issued an identification card until the assistant commissioner of the RCMP has ordered a full set of fingerprints to be taken.

The identification card would show a photo of the licensee's face, or of the employee's face, name and home address, brief physical description, date of expiration of the licence and the assistant commissioner's signature.

The licensee, other than a corporation, or employee of an agency, would be required to carry the card whenever engaged as a private detective or patrolman.

The amendment would eliminate necessity of a private patrolman or detective carrying a letter of authorization from the licensee.

The legislation requires bonding of employees up to $10,500, and provides for revocation or refusal of a licence by the assistant commissioner.

Bamfield Road Cost Termed 'Prohibitive'

Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi said in the legislature Monday that "prohibitive" costs of a road to East Bamfield is forcing the government to cast about for an alternative route.

Earlier Mr. Gagliardi had indicated to a delegation from the community on the west coast of Vancouver island the road could be built this year.

The government was to build only 1½ miles and MacMillan Powell would build the other 1½ miles for $30,000.

BARRON-EGAD-MAKES THE GRADE

Painting the Town Hall Latest Victoria Pastime

By JOHN MIKA

Paint, painters and painting dominated City Hall today.

Here's the program for viewing the exhibits:

A representative abstract by well-known Victorian Sid Barron was presented to the city by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Arthur Beadle, 3890 Douglas.

It was received by an appreciative Mayor R. B. Wilson and will join the budding "collection" in his office started by Herbert Siebner who donated a controversial abstract of the Inner Harbor last week.

The work by Barron, former Times cartoonist whose titillating cartoons already decorate many City Hall offices as framed originals—is entitled "Calais" and was included in his one-man exhibition at the Greater Victoria Art Gallery a year ago.

his works will be purchased by the city as a gift to the Princess Royal when she visits Victoria in June.

The young Victoria artist has won international acclaim in England and the United States for his pictorial paintings of birds.

Finally, the painting kaleidoscope at city hall slipped towards the mundane—from a creative point of view—to the beauties of ordinary wall paint.

A proclamation was under preparation which the mayor will deliver from the city hall steps Thursday at 1:30 p.m., urging all citizens—particularly downtown merchants—to paint up their buildings for centennial year.

At the end of the proclamation, a crew of painters—commercial house painters that is—will flourish their king-size brushes and begin painting the City Hall walls a striking beige and white combination.

SID BARRON ... his "Victoria period."

Up-Island Snow Heralds Spring

RETURN OF PREMIER AWAITED

By FRANK RUTTER

Premier Bennett returns to Victoria Thursday—and then the fur will fly in the legislature.

The opposition is waiting for him.

They want a full report on his Ottawa power talks, and subsequent visit to New York.

He has talked power with Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Finance Minister Fleming in Ottawa; he has talked finance in New York.

But before he left he lit the fuse for what could be the biggest-ever explosion in the legislature: his bill denying any court action on the B.C. Electric takeover.

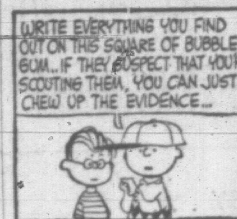

The initial reaction has been one of fury. But the premier missed it all.

So opposition MLAs intend to make up for it. They predict that when the bill comes up for second reading the debate will be long and bitter.

It is expected the premier will pilot the bill through second reading on Thursday night—and probably well into Friday morning.

It could be introduced before the premier's return at tonight's sitting, although this is unlikely.

In any event it promises to be one of the longest, hottest issues to flare in years, and it will certainly prolong the session well into next week.

Unsettled Weather To Continue

Vancouver Island spring was ushered in Tuesday night with flurries of ugh—snow.

And more might fall as far south as Victoria this evening.

Tuesday, officially the first day of spring, 1962, saw a light coat of white on the Malahat Drive. It lasted most of the evening but was rapidly melting away this morning.

Ladysmith reported a sleety evening with the snow melting as soon as it hit ground and Sooke residents noted heavy snow on logging trucks coming out of the hills although none fell in the village.

A cold rain was falling on Duncan this morning and RCMP there said the temperature had dropped 10 degrees.

UNSETTLED

Weatherman Bill Mackie predicted an unsettled weather picture for Victoria, estimating evening temperatures at 36-45 degrees.

Rain turning to steady showers overnight and showers with periods of sunshine tomorrow are expected, he said.

As the air is cold, Mr. Mackie said, some snow could fall this evening, but it shouldn't last long.

Winds will turn from east to southeast at 30-35 mph and make Thursday blustery.

MONTE ROBERTS

You've no doubt heard about the meeting in Oak Bay, where people talked about pigeons.

Some people were in favor of pigeons, and other people were against pigeons.

A petition signed by 100 people said, "Let's have lots more pigeons," and a petition signed by 62 people said, "Let's not have any pigeons," and other people who hadn't signed either petition said, "Vote no."

All in all, it was quite a squabble.

But what I want to tell you about is another meeting in Oak Bay, where pigeons talked about people.

Some pigeons were in favor of people, and other pigeons were against people, but I have it on good authority from a stool pigeon, that most of the pigeons in attendance held themselves above the question of people.

They tried to keep things on a lofty plane, as it were, when a pouter pigeon, known far and wide as English Red, said that something should be done.

"People," he said, "are claiming there are too many pigeons in Oak Bay. It is time," he said, "we pigeons made it known there are too many people in Oak Bay."

"What is sauce for the goose," said English Red, "is sauce for the gander."

"Please," said a dainty black muffed tumbler, "you are speaking of relatives of mine—distant, but still relatives."

A stalwart white king pigeon in the front row frowned at the muffed tumbler.

"This is no time for sentiment," he said. "Some people in Oak Bay are objecting to pigeon cotes being enlarged."

"So they are, so they are," agreed a frillback pigeon.

"Well, then," said the white king, "how about we pigeons objecting to all these new high-rise apartments?"

"Here, here," said a homing pigeon. "It's getting so a fellow can't find his way to you-know-where without bumping into the top storey of an uncharted apartment building."

"Too many people," snapped a Swiss Moudaine.

"Now, now," cooed the turtledove on the back perch, "what about peaceful co-existence? Isn't that in the pigeons' code of ethics?"

Well, there was a lot more talking after that, and no pigeon agreed with any other pigeon.

After all, the meeting was in Oak Bay.

Restaurant Thief Gets Three Years

Leonard G. Bell, 24, of Glen Lake, was sentenced to three years in the B.C. Penitentiary today on two charges of breaking and entering and theft from the Don Mee Chop Suey, 538 Fisgard, and G. B. Simon Ltd., jewellers, of 1306 Government.

Judge J. B. Clearhugh passed sentence in Victoria County Court after Dr. Douglas Alcorn, a specialist in neuropsychiatry, had recommended that Bell should undergo psychiatric treatment.

Bell pleaded guilty to stealing about $12,000 in bills and goods from the Don Mee restaurant and about $500 of valuables and cash from the Simon store, just a few blocks away.

Judge Clearhugh sentenced him to three years on each charge, but they will run concurrently.

Bell was first charged in city police court on Feb. 27 with theft from the Don Mee restaurant. He was freed on $2,000 bail and re-arrested the same night and charged with theft from the jewellery store.

Reserving his plea at the time, he elected to be tried before a judge in county court.

Two other persons charged with him in the theft from Don Mee—Marian Miller and Francis Chan, both of Vancouver—were discharged in police court for lack of evidence.

Trucks Crash, Three Men In Hospital

Three men are in hospital after a violent crash between a panel delivery truck and a pickup truck late Tuesday afternoon.

Tossed into a wet ditch was Fred Hancock, 3888 Wesley, delivery driver, after a jarring collision at the Pat Bay Highway-Island View Road intersection.

The accident occurred at 4:45 p.m.

Driver of the old-model pickup, Joe Taylor, Saanichton, is in Royal Jubilee Hospital with multiple cuts. His condition is described as fairly good.

Passenger with him, Gilbert Paul, Brentwood, is reported in good condition.

Hancock suffered severe head injuries. He is in satisfactory condition.

'LUCKY TO LIVE'

Police said Hancock was lucky to be alive after the spectacular crash.

He was driving south on the highway when the other truck came out of Island View Road from the west.

The smash sent Hancock flying from his cab into a water-filled ditch 12 feet away.

He was pulled out by J. W. Smallwood, 4655 Vantreight Drive, a passerby.

Taylor and Paul were covered with blood from cuts and in shock when police arrived, but able to walk.

The accident sent their truck flying against a wooden pole 14 inches wide, ripping away the rear box.

The two vehicles ended up about 50 feet into a field by the side of the road—and 20 yards apart.

Damage to the delivery truck was estimated by police at $300—the pickup beyond repair.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Articles with a total value of $400 were stolen from the room of a cafe manager in the Fairfield Hotel, 710 Cormorant Street, sometime on Tuesday.

Andre Markolefas told city police someone had taken his key from the hotel rack and entered his room between 9 a.m. Tuesday and 1 a.m. today.

Missing were a transistor radio valued at $75; a $200 camera; an electric shaver valued at $25; a $75 suit, four shirts worth $25 and some socks.

A 12-year-old boy required four stitches in his head Tuesday to close a cut inflicted by a jagged piece of coconut.

Jim Carpenter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Carpenter, 2701 Burdick, was apparently playing with some friends.

After cracking the nut open and eating some, the group started to throw it around and Jim was cut on the back of his head by a jagged piece.

He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in Oak Bay Fire Department's emergency vehicle.

C. Thompson was elected president of the Senior Citizens Campaign Council at the recent annual meeting.

A. C. Gildemeester was chosen vice-president and R. McVie secretary.

St. John Ambulance Brigade annual inspection will take place Tuesday. Cadets will be inspected at 6:30 p.m. at 941 Pandora and Seniors at 8 p.m. at 925 Balmoral Road.

Awards will be presented and there will be demonstrations and refreshments.

A reunion is planned Saturday by the 67th Battalion Western Scots at the Dominion Hotel. It will mark the 46th anniversary of the unit's departure from Victoria for overseas.

The Esquimalt Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion will meet this evening at 8. After election of officers, Peter Cairns will perform the installation ceremonies.

Local radio station KITN, started by two students last October, has been silent since Tuesday.

But partners Mal Potts and Ron MacAdam hope to resume broadcasting April 1. They gave "technical difficulties" as the reason for the shutdown.

Named as new president of the Insurance Agents' Association of B.C., at the annual meeting in Vancouver this week, was H. P. R. Brown of Victoria.

The council members from Greater Victoria are J. V. Harbord, M. C. Stewart, H. A. Gardner and L. W. Murray.

Other Island men named to the council were K. T. Guest of Nanaimo, C. F. Draney, Campbell River, and E. A. B. Sutton, Duncan.

The highway to Port Renfrew and extension of the highway to Port Hardy will be among topics for discussion at a meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce transportation and harbor group Monday noon in the Colonial Inn.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgell today said city council was bound by a moral obligation to maintain 11 wooded acres it owns on the Gorge as public park land.

He pointed to a city resolution in 1904 under which the land was bought "for park purposes" as a clear indication the city should not lease it for a private amusement park.

He made the statement as a continuation of his battle against a committee recommendation that the city agree in principle to giving a long-term lease to Sherwood Forest Parkland Ltd. for development of a $350,000 medieval amusement park.

Metropolitan Men's Club will meet for supper at 6 p.m. Thursday in the Metropolitan United Church hall. Films on the South Pacific and Hong Kong will be shown.

A burglar only narrowly escaped from Benny's Grill, 1020 Blanshard Street, about 1:45 a.m. today.

He fled out of the front door as city police constable John Kelly came through the back door.

The policeman was making a routine check when he noticed an open rear window.

He found the thief had broken into a cigarette machine and fled only moments earlier.

Archbishop Harold Sexton will preach at a Lenten service to be held tonight at 8 under the auspices of the Greater Victoria Ministers' Association at the Metropolitan United Church.

The Hydrographic Service launch Albatross anchored on Tuesday in Baynes Channel off Cadboro Point and is now engaged in current metering.

During its survey the vessel will display three red and white shapes by day and an all-round white light at night.

Other vessels are requested to reduce speed when passing the Albatross.

Schools Symphony Wins Support For Calgary Trip

Intermunicipal committee Tuesday recommended the four councils share a $1,000 grant for the Greater Victoria Schools Symphony Orchestra.

The group is trying to raise $2,000 to finance a trip to Calgary to compete in a schools symphony festival.

"This organization is really tops," said Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch. "In fact it could give the Victoria Symphony a run for its money."

A Chamber of Commerce request for renaming of Foul Bay Road, Henderson and Finerty to "University Way" was tabled pending decision by Saanich council. Oak Bay and Victoria representatives expressed approval of the suggestion.

'Dollars' Wanted, Not Needed

A man found inside a Gorge Road service station by police in the early hours of the morning said he wanted to get some extra money although he didn't really need it.

James E. Cpousins, 2 Maple Avenue, Sooke, pleaded guilty in city police court today to breaking and entering at 75 Gorge Road, on February 16.

Cons. John Burdys said he noticed a broken window in the service station and found Cousins hiding behind the counter.

When asked what he was doing there he replied: "You can see it... I wanted to get some dollars." But he admitted he didn't need the money.

The policeman said two drawers in the counter had been forced but nothing was missing.

Magistrate William Ostler remanded Cousins to appear on March 28 for probation report and sentence.

A large crowd is expected at the Liberal party's nominating convention for Victoria federal riding Monday night, a spokesman said today.

The convention, starting at 8 p.m., will be held in the party headquarters, 1322A Government Street, to choose between two candidates.

The contenders are retired Gen. Charles Foulkes and lawyer Foster Isherwood.

Liberal MP Paul Hellyer, former associate minister of national defence, will be the guest speaker after the convention chooses its standard bearer.

Funeral Service Friday For Prominent Businessman

James T. Burns, 3335 Uplands Road, well-known in business circles in Alberta and B.C., died in Jubilee Hospital on Tuesday after a year's illness. He was 84.

With the late James Gibson, he was a founder of A. K. Love women's clothing store, now Gibson's Ladies' Wear, in this city.

Born in Kilmarnock, Scotland, the son of Robert and Katherine Burns, he was educated at Glasgow and Edinburgh. His grandfather was William Cockrane, founder of the world-famous Paisley Mills.

During a world tour he decided to settle in Calgary in 1907 where he was owner and operator of the Imperial Dry Goods Co.

He came to Victoria in 1941. Until his death he was associated with United Dairies of Calgary, being director of the parent company and its branches in Victoria, Northwestern Creamery Ltd., and Vancouver, Jersey Farms Ltd.

He was a charter member of the Kiwanis Club of Calgary, and long a member of the United Church of Canada. While in Calgary he took an active interest in civic affairs, being nominated for the post of city manager. He was also an active sportsman, and won many golfing trophies.

He is survived by the widow, Adelaide, and a son, Arthur of Victoria.

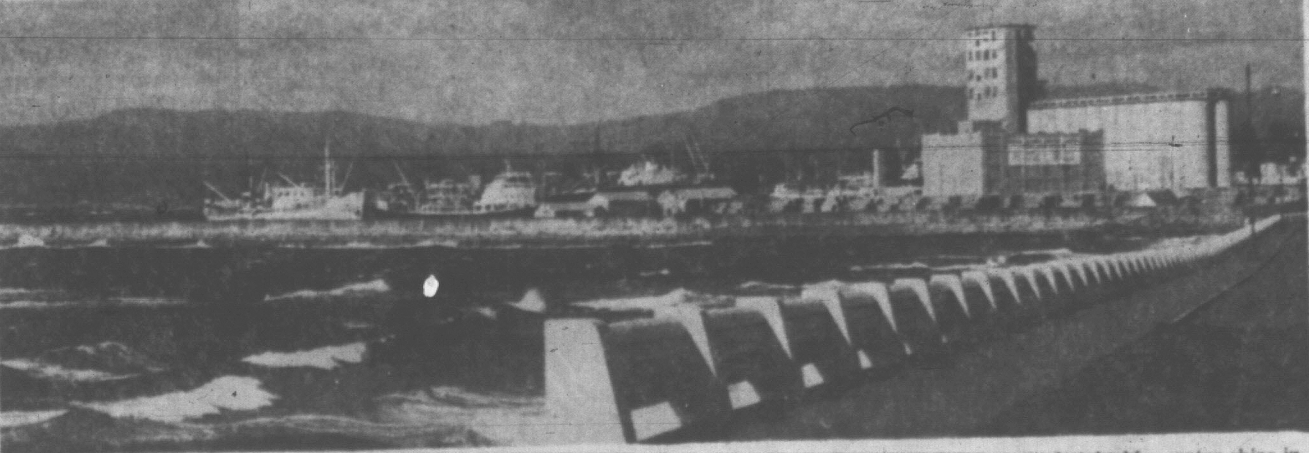

Funeral services will be held at McCall Bros' Funeral Chapel on Friday at 3:15. Rev. J. L. W. McLean officiating. Interment will follow in Royal Oak Burial Park.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Your centennial column, "This Day in Victoria—1862," often mentions sums of money using the English monetary system of pounds and pence. With reference to this could you please tell me when our present day legal tender of dollars and cents first came into being? J.S.

A. An act establishing a decimal system of accounts in the Colony of Vancouver Island and its dependencies received Governor Douglas' assent on Dec. 12, 1862. This act took effect on Jan. 1, 1863, with the English pound being evaluated at $4.85.

However, the pound continued as legal tender, along with the dollar, until July 1, 1881, when an act establishing one uniform currency for the Dominion of Canada was passed.

UNUSUAL "FULL HOUSE" was registered at deep-sea berths in Victoria area today, with five freighters (above) at the CNR docks, Ogden Point; one under the Victoria Grain Elevator; one at Victoria Machinery Depot; and another at the Government

Graving Dock, Esquimalt, for a total of eight blue-water ships in port. Reason is simply the vagaries of ocean shipping, which ebbs and flows like the tides, but, unlike the tides, has no fixed cycle. (Times Photo by Halkett.)

No More Lint on Clothes With Tiny Vacuum Cleaner

By PENNY SAVER

We've all seen vacuum cleaners and we've all seen flashlights; but have you ever seen a flashlight-sized vacuum cleaner?

It's main use, of course, is for clothes, but it would be handy for upholstery too. The vacuum brush operates on two flashlight batteries (1.5 volt). All dust is inhaled into an attached removable bag and the brush is soft, protecting materials.

What do they really look like? A flashlight with a bag and brush attachment. Color of plastic case is pale green and price—this will surprise you—is only $1.98.

A Florentine design, jeweled perfume vial will be a smart addition to your handbag. Made of brass, there's a choice of gold color or pink.

Two designs are available, one and two inches high. Included in the price of $3.50 is a small funnel to be used for filling the vial.

Another smart handbag item is a gold-colored brass pill box with a jeweled top of semi-precious stones. The box has a safety catch and a small divider in the centre if you wish to carry more than one kind of pill. Price for this beauty? Only $3.

Ever seen a Koran holder? It's a folding wooden stand, with hinge, that's hand-carved entirely from one piece of Sheesham wood by East Indian artists. This small stand features decorative open perforation work.

It was originally designed by Mohammedans to hold the Koran as it was forbidden to place the Koran directly on the floor.

You could use it to hold your precious family Bible, or a housewife could even use it for her cookbook in the kitchen. It would be perfect for someone who is sick in bed, as it would make it easier for them to hold their book. Price for this lovely carved holder is a mere $3.50.

Wondering where I shopped today? Call me and I'll be glad to tell you. Penny, EV 2-3131.

DEAR ABBY...

Knock-Kneed and Foolish!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Now that skirts are being worn above the knees, I have a problem which I can no longer hide. I am knock-kneed. You have never seen such big, bony, ugly knock-knees! Someone told me that an orthopedic surgeon could do wonders for me. It would mean breaking both my legs and removing some of the bone and cartilage. I know it would be expensive and probably painful for a while, but I would do anything for a pair of nice-looking legs. I am no kid. I am 29.

DEAR ABBY: I have been a widow for nine years and have met a fine widower. He has been courting me for three years. I have no children and his are married. Would you kindly let me know if it is proper for him to pick me up at my home? My mother says

I should meet him on the outside somewhere because I live alone and she is afraid people will talk if they see him in the hall or near my door. I am 41 years old.

DEAR QUESTION: Your friend should call for you at your door and see you to your door when he brings you home. I am all for girls listening to their mothers, but yours is way off the beam and at 41 you are no longer a girl.

DEAR ABBY: Could you please tell me what the superstitions are about moving? By this I mean, which days are lucky and which are unlucky for me? Someone once told me that because I was born in July under the sign of Cancer it was bad luck to move on a Tuesday. I also heard that if I don't have a loaf of bread and a box of salt in my new home before I moved in I would have bad luck there.

DEAR SUPER: Many people have great faith in both superstitions and the horoscope. But not I. I touched wood only once, when I hit a tree. That brought me bad luck immediately.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for telling that young girl to let her boy friends pick her up at her own home and not to be ashamed because she lived in a "dump." My wife lived in such a dump when she was a girl. Her people were so poor they did not have enough to eat most of the time, but that didn't bother me. I took her away from all that. We have been married 30 years and she has made me a wonderful wife. Pure gold comes out of dirty sand.

Stop worrying. Let Abby help you with that problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

WHY GROW OLD?

Cancer Treatment Improves; Early Detection Is Important

The word, cancer, naturally strikes fear to the heart of anyone. Generally, it is thought that the cancer victim is a doomed individual.

This is too bad for several reasons. In the first place, this is not true. Also, the terrible dread of the disease causes some to delay in checking in with their physicians when suspicious symptoms occur. Then, too, there has been some indication that emotional stress may speed the spread of cancer, or contribute to its re-occurrence.

Actually, many folks do not realize how many people have been cured of cancer. Today in the United States alone there are more than one million people who have been cured. While there have been no real breakthroughs and no miracle drugs, there has been a steady increase in the cure

Attend Meeting In Vancouver

Mrs. J. L. W. McLean, Mrs. F. O. Jenkinson, Mrs. H. Warren, Miss G. Scott and Miss W. Ripley were on the mainland recently to attend 48th annual meeting of the British Columbia Synodical Women's Missionary Society, Presbyterian Church of Canada.

Three-day meeting was held in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Vancouver.

Annual reports were presented in form of panel discussions. Speakers at various sessions included Mrs. A. S. Carr, Toronto; president of council executive, and Dr. W. O. Nugent, superintendent of missions for the province.

Dr. Robert Taylor, moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, was a special guest when Westminster Presbyterian served tea. Entertainment program was given by the children of the Chinese Mission in Vancouver.

and information has increased, but perhaps the main reason for the upswing in cancer cures is the fact that the public is better informed. More people now are aware of the importance of the regular, physical checkup and of the urgency of going to see the doctor when they notice any unusual symptom.

It is estimated that 520,000 people will develop cancer during 1962. Of these, one-third, or about 173,000 will be cured of the disease. Another 87,000 of these new cases could be saved if they would have early detection and prompt treatment with the medical skills and knowledge now available.

Uterine cancer, could be mostly conquered if women would only have periodic Papanicolaou tests. This test is very simple and can be made in a doctor's office. Breast cancer fatalities also could be greatly reduced if women examined themselves, and also had periodic examinations by a physician. The most important secret of cancer cure is early detection and early treatment.

So do not think of cancer only in terms of fear, but intelligently. This attitude gives you a large measure of safety should you be one of those who will develop this disease.

Looks Back on Her Centennial

By PAT DUFOUR

Victoria may be celebrating its 100th birthday this year but by the standards of Mrs. Louisa Ann Fallows it's still a "youngster." She marked her own centennial two years ago and on Thursday will celebrate her 102nd birthday.

Born within the sound of Bow bells she's proud of the fact that she's a "real cockney" and like Queen Victoria still reflects the way of life in which she was brought up.

Her daughter, Mrs. D. (Louise) Buck, describes her mother as "a true Victorian, always believing in plain living and high thinking."

But to this day she still takes a feminine pride in her appearance, taking great care in how she dresses and pin-curling her own hair every evening.

For her birthday picture she donned a lacy black cap trimmed with tiny mauve flowers because "you should always try to look your best."

She lived in England until her husband died and then came to Canada with her family. She has four other children, Mrs. A. (Grace) Jones, Parksville; Mrs. Kathleen Laird, Langford; Mrs. Basil (Mary) Roberts, England, and Stanley Fallows, Gibson's Landing.

She first settled in Edmonton, Alta., in 1921 and was in her 70s when she came to Victoria in 1930.

As like most women of her era she centred her life around her family. It didn't stop her from indulging in her favorite hobby of music.

Says her daughter, "She had

a very fine soprano voice and loved to sing and play for our parties. Mother also sang in church choirs for many years."

Although not exactly young when she came to Victoria she found herself able to indulge in working for her two favorite projects, helping the lepers and seamen. Many a time she played a lively tune on the piano for the meetings at the Shanty Men's Mission.

Gardening was another of her "loves" and her eyes still light up at the sight of a beautiful flower. And when you talk of the sea—you have her attention immediately.

For the last eight years she's lived at the Salvation Army's Sunset Lodge and her warm smile and quiet dignity have won her many friends among the other 27 residents. They will all be there on Thursday afternoon when the

Mr. and Mrs. George Craig, 1444 Westall Avenue, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Mariene, to Mr. Norman Gerald Jackson, only son of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Jackson, 2587 Cook Street. The wedding will take place on Saturday, April 7, at 7:30 p.m. in St. Alban's Anglican Church with Rev. F. W. Hayes officiating.

Bridal attendants will be Miss Jo Humber, maid of honor; the Misses Lynne Jackson (the groom-elect's sister) and Arlene Craig (the bride-elect's cousin), bridesmaids and Vicki Jackson, sister of the groom, flower girl. Mr. Pat Fenske will be best man and ushers will be Lyle Eberts and Brian Craig, brother of the groom. (Photo by Ryan Bros.)

Dainty Swiss Lace Enhances Gown

A floor-length gown of nylon land, Oregon, on their honeymoon. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Ashby, Beverly, Karen and Ron, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Lacharity, of Alberni, and Mrs. W. Dunbar and Mrs. R. Cole, of Vancouver.

sheer with Empire inspired basque bodice enhanced with Swiss lace embroidery on the scooped neckline and lily point sleeves was worn by Sharon Louise Douglas at her wedding to Maurice Ivan Pilotte.

The bride's veil of silk illusion net was held in place with a crown of nylon sheer and seed pearls in leaf design. Her only jewelry was a culture pearl necklace and earring set, gift of the groom.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. George E. Douglas, 1212 Hillside Avenue, and Mrs. F. Pilotte, 640 Frances Street.

The wedding took place in the Metropolitan United Church with Dr. F. E. H. James officiating. Baskets of spring flowers provided the decor.

During the signing of the register, William Hosey sang the "Bride's Prayer".

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Cousin of the bride, Mrs. R. Lemire, was matron of honor. Mrs. R. Grivel, bridesmatron, and Miss Jill Jewsbury, bridesmaid.

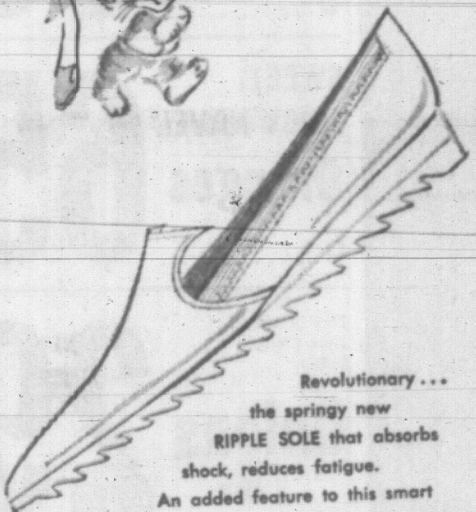

They wore identical red French velvet dresses with toning hats and carried cascade bouquets of white carnations.

The best man was Julian Pilotte, brother of the groom, and ushering guests to their pews were Robert Grivel and Ronald Ashby, a cousin of the bride.

Rosebuds decorated the bride's table at a reception held in Holyrood House. The bride's uncle, Robert Ashby, proposed a toast.

Mrs. Pilotte chose a Dior blue suit, fur jacket and blue and beige accessories for her travelling ensemble. A corsage of red roses complemented her ensemble.

The couple travelled to Port-

DOUK TRIAL

Means
'Burn'

NELSON (CP).— Stefan Sorokin, the fanatical son of Freedom Doukhor sect spiritual leader, was named Tuesday as one of the leaders behind years of terrorism in the Kootenays.

Assize Court testimony, described as unprecedented by authorities on the sect, was that the Freedomite leader, who lives in Uruguay, even meted out punishment to disobedient sect members.

Never before had members of the radical sect turned against their spiritual leader and their governing fraternal council.

Thirteen of 23 Freedomites charged with arson, conspiracy and attempted arson described the council and Sorokin as the force behind 50 years of terrorism.

Crown Prosecutor T. G. Bowen-Colthurst, in his charge to the jury, termed the testimony "unique, dramatic and a sad tale," adding:

"They've told you of an elected body of 52 Freedomites most of whom were involved in bombings. It is apparent those who testified have revolted against the Fraternal Council."

Pete Zaroubin, one of the accused, said if a Freedomite speaks against the Fraternal or Sorokin, severe punishment is meted out.

'PRAY' MEANS 'BURN'

Alex Datchkoff said Sorokin used the words "pray to God" in letters to the sect, meaning continue the burnings and bombings.

Fred Jmaeff said: "Just as sure as the judge orders the recess of this court, it is sure that the Fraternal Council, all 52 members, are giving orders for the bombings, burnings and lies."

The 13 accused said they had been told to lie in court, to blame violence—and that has included bombing of a massive power pylon near here and many arson and bomb attacks on a former Freedomite leader and a Doukhor prophet.

The testimony against the council began Monday when Akar Barloff said: "Our people, aside from the committee (Fraternal Council) do not wish to leave anything unsaid in regard to the burnings."

The accused pleaded not guilty to conspiracy, but admitted the offences with which they are charged.

Actress Gets Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP).— Italian actress Luciana Paluzzi, 24, has divorced American film and television star Brett Halsey, 28. The actress testified Monday that he struck her several times. She charged cruelty.

ANTI-CIGARETTE BAN
GROWING IN BRITAIN

LONDON (UPI).—London and three other cities in Britain today took steps to ban smoking in public places as part of a nation-wide campaign against cigarettes on health grounds.

Bernard Bagnari, chairman of the London County Council Control Committee, said his group was considering whether it could make no-smoking a condition of granting licences to movie houses and other public places.

In Manchester, Bristol and Glasgow similar moves were being made.

The county council of Westmoreland Tuesday decided to recommend to members that they do not smoke at meetings.

Britain's growing preoccupation with smoking came about because of a report by the Royal College of Physicians issued early this month linking cigarette smoking with a high incidence of lung cancer and other diseases.

"The government is surprised by the speed with which support has gathered for the Royal College," said the Daily Mail today.

Harris Boomerang Scores Hot With College Crowd

By LESLIE MILLIN
Times College Correspondent

Rolf Harris' boomerang didn't come back, but he did. The bearded Australian who made his name in Canada singing such hits as "My Boomerang Won't Come Back" and "Six White Boomerangs" Tuesday became the first artist to make two appearances at Victoria College in a single year under the college's special events program.

Nearly a thousand students clogged the college's Gordon Head gymnasium at lunch time to hear Harris sing, crack jokes, discourse on flaws in popular music, and demonstrate his artistic prowess with a paintbrush.

Harris, whose bearded and bespectacled face is faintly reminiscent of that of the English actor Peter Ustinov, opened his hour-long concert with an on-the-spot illustration of his theme song, "The Me Kangaroo Down."

In deft strokes with a six-inch-wide paint brush, he rapidly sketched for his audience the lined and haggard face of the dying Australian whose last words form the substance of the song—a face surprisingly similar to Harris' own, heard included.

MICE SONGS

Admitting to a weakness for songs about animals, he romped through ballads involving kangaroos, wallabies and birds, and made a special feature of singing three successive songs about mice—a Spanish mouse, a White Russian mouse and three English mice who joined the navy for the rum ration.

Songs about Australia were embroidered with lengthy imitations of night noises in the desert, the sound of a boomerang in flight, and the rhythm peculiar to Santa's sleigh when it is being pulled by a team of six white boomerangs (big kangaroos).

Eight of Rolf Harris' 32 years have been spent outside his native Australia, seven of them in England where he produced children's shows for television.

OVER YEAR

He came to Canada and Vancouver just over a year ago, and has been using the mainland city as his base of operations while he travels through the Pacific northwest giving performances in universities and night clubs.

"I like playing to university audiences," he said after the show at Gordon Head.

"They tend to think pretty fast, so they're better to work to."

Waxing serious for just a few minutes at the end of his performance, Rolf Harris sang one of his own compositions about American astronaut John Glenn.

Why?

Because it also involved the city in Australia that turned its lights on for Glenn as he was orbiting the world, and that city was Perth—Rolf Harris' home town.

HIGHLY REGARDED in England for their artistry as a two-piano team, are husband and wife, Robin Wood and Winnifred Scott. Mr. Wood, Victoria-born, first went to England on a Royal Academy of Music scholarship and has since developed a successful career in that country. He met his wife, a native of Winnipeg, while both were students at the Academy. Victoria Musical Art Society is presenting the duo in recital Tuesday at Victoria High School. Tickets at Eaton's.

Ten-Store Centre Plan for Courtenay

COURTENAY—Ten stores are being planned for a new Courtenay shopping centre by Caledonian Lease Holders, Ltd. Although the company has not officially announced plans to construct the units, a request presented to the city council Monday night made their intentions clear.

The company controls property adjoining the Super Valu store now under construction in the city centre and has asked the council for support in removing and relocating a cement wall at the edge of the property. Their request was accompanied by a plan for a 10-unit shopping centre.

COMOX—A sewer bylaw passed by the village commission Monday night requires applicants for sewer hookups to pay a $50 installation fee with their application.

Village clerk, Miss E. N. Turnbull, said the low hookup rate is possible because of the municipality subsidization. If applicants require time to pay they must make their own arrangements.

Any costs in excess of $50 will be paid by the village out of winter works refunds. A donation of $25,000 from St. Joseph's Hospital will also be used to help defray the cost of the system.

SIDNEY—A fire believed to have started in a wood-burning heater all but gutted the home of P. R. Rafuse at 2045 Weller Avenue in North Saanich Tuesday.

Damage to the home is estimated at $6,000. Mr. Rafuse was working in his garden and was unaware the fire was racing through the interior of his home until a neighbor notified him that smoke was seeping out of the roof.

Pigeons Not High Class, Alas?

A petition signed by 100 Oak Bay residents, calling for a bylaw amendment to permit larger pigeon cotes, ran into heavy going Monday night.

At a public hearing prior to council meeting a 62-name petition, opposing the bylaw change, was presented.

More than 40 residents representing both sides attended the hearing in council chambers. Reeve George Murdoch promised both petitions will be considered fully.

Harry Gregson, 2160 Beach Drive, told council pigeons are "dirty birds."

"We have all seen what pigeons do to houses and monuments," he said, adding there had been complaints about the birds eating up gardens.

Verne Davidson, 777 Falkland, contended that racing pigeons are allowed only limited exercise and owners don't permit them to run loose.

The controversy started when A. R. Cockburn, 1051 Hampshire, was told earlier his son would not be allowed to increase the size of his cote in the family backyard.

Mr. Cockburn returned to council later with a 100-name

'DECENT LIVING WAGE' ASKED FOR FIREFIGHTERS

People enlisted to fight forest fires should be paid "a decent living wage"—not 75 cents an hour—Alberni MLA John Squire said Tuesday night.

He told the legislature that better pay would encourage volunteer firefighters to work harder.

He said it would be worthwhile to pay as much as $2.35 an hour.

Forest Minister Ray Williston said the firefighters are doing pretty well at 75 cents.

He said they claim as much as 20 hours worth of work a day.

"But you know as well as I do the men don't work 20 hours."

Besides the 75 cents, he said, they also get meals.

CITY WOMAN REVISITS RUSSIA

A Likeable, Pitiabile People

This is the last in a series of articles on Russia by Mrs. Graham Odgers, wife of Dr. Graham Odgers, senior scientific officer at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory in Saanich. Dr. and Mrs. Odgers spent several months in Russia in 1961, their second trip in three years.

By MRS. PAMELA ODGERS

Leaving Leningrad by ship, we were grateful for the opportunity of visiting Russia again. Our time had been interesting in some ways and disappointing in others.

It was entirely my own fault that I did not know Russian and so lost countless chances for conversation in the park, or on subways or buses. I have mixed feelings about Russians. One is always trying to disentangle what is Russian from what is Communist.

As people I like them, as patriots I admire them, as prisoners I pity them, but it is ridiculous to think that their harsh government would suit us.

Our conclusions were that conditions were a little better than in 1958 but still rather bad.

Tourists Kept Busy

The Intourist guided tours are cleverly devised to keep the tourists very busy seeing all the best there is to offer in a short space of time and one leaves the Soviet Union after such a tour impressed by the museums, the ballet, the subway, the jet flights, with the German army named as scapegoat for all backwardness and the sputniks becoming the symbol for all progress.

But I think Communism as it exists in U.S.S.R. is having great difficulties in agriculture and sputniks cannot take the place of butter, as in April in Moscow.

Every man, woman and child has made sacrifices for those pieces of hardware and were delighted with the results. But why have sputniks in space instead of pasteurized milk in the shops or good shoes on the children's feet?

So far the U.S.S.R. has not been able to do both.

Harsh Autocracy

However, far worse than the material conditions of life, which are improving slowly, is the harsh autocracy with which the Soviet government manages its own citizens. Why can the people not read what they like, go where they please, wrap their own parcels or voice their opinions freely?

The government does not trust them. Each carefully scrutinized person who goes abroad leaves a hostage at home. Delegations always have a spy to watch everyone.

When we were there in June many astronomers were planning to go to an international conference in Berkeley, California, in August, but if we asked them they never gave a direct answer, but said, rather meekly, "I hope to go."

They could never be sure until the party member had given his consent. Men of great integrity and distinction in their work were not free to go.

Many Russians have an air of long suffering patience and great endurance which come from the constant violation of the human spirit by an oppressive government.

Even a short glance at Russian history explains the reasons for such a government.

Our system which we inherited from Britain evolved slowly during many centuries of comparative peace and security in the country. Only twice in 900 years (1588 and 1940) was the island seriously threatened. This was her great fortune. They had the time and conditions to experiment in social and political forms.

The history of Russia, on the other hand, is a catalogue of calamity, cruelty and recurring starvation, and the least internal weakness was the signal for the neighboring countries to pour across the flat plains and wreck havoc and destruction. In such an atmosphere it is not surprising that a liberal system of government did not arise.

What is surprising is that the people have survived—survived every invasion, endured every injustice, and suffered on an unimaginable scale.

Not only have they merely survived, but have given to the world a rich harvest of composers and authors, Pasternak and Sholokov, and scientists who launched the first satellite and the first man in space, and these are just a few of the people who reveal the great spirit of Russia.

Last of a series.

ORDERED OFF THE AIR IN PASADENA

Cooke Paid $500,000 to Help 'Poorer Kid Brother' in Radio

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP)—A U.S. federal communications commission says Jack Kent Cooke put up more than $500,000 to help his brother, Donald, purchase a Pasadena radio station which the commission now has ordered closed April 16.

The commission accused station KRLA, owned by Donald Cooke, of fraudulent practice and said it had been allowed to fall under the operations of Jack at a time when he was a Canadian citizen. United States law forbids foreign control over American broadcasting. The station was managed under the firm name of Eleven Ten Broadcasting Corporation.

Commissioner John S. Cross, in a separate statement, said that "all through the record of this case there are illustrations of the older and richer brother, Jack, helping his poorer kid brother, Donald. It was Jack, who had the broadcasting experience and it was Jack who put up most of the purchase money—over $500,000—for buying KRLA."

The commission charged also that KRLA program records were altered improperly to reflect broadcasting of religious programs "which, in fact, were not broadcast."

Evidence showed that Donald Cooke, who emigrated from Canada and became an American citizen in 1947, left the Los Angeles area in 1959 and turned over operation of the station to his older brother and other station employees.

At that time Jack was a Canadian citizen, operating as a publisher and owner of Toronto radio station CKEY. A special bill was passed by Congress in 1960 to provide him with sufficient legal residence so that he could apply for American citizenship through the courts immediately. The normal U.S. residence period for citizenship is five years.

Jack was described in the congressional bill as willing to give up all his status and social position in Canada to build a new life in the U.S. because he was impressed by freedom of opportunity in the U.S.

The commission said the station management "was disposed to deceit in advance of any commission inquiry; it was disposed to deceit at the time of the commission inquiry; it was disposed to deceit in the programming it would present after renewal of its licence."

INDOCHINA SMUGGLERS FINED, REPRIMANDED

OTTAWA (CP)—Three non-commissioned army officers have each been fined $100 and given a severe reprimand for smuggling opium and gold in Indochina, Defence Minister Harkness said today in the Commons.

He gave their names as Sgt. J. A. Champagne, Sgt. W. B. Gabel and Cpl. A. J. Hill.

Mr. Harkness said the three were summarily convicted by their commanding officer in Indochina.

Consideration was being given to their "compulsory release" from the army.

Second abstract by an outstanding Victoria artist—former Times cartoonist Sid Barron—was received today by an admiring Mayor R. B. Wilson. Standing with him is Mrs. Arthur Beadle, who do-

First Peace Power Cost 5 to 6 Mills

By FRANK RUTER
Times Legislative Reporter

Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston early this morning outlined the government's plan for marketing Peace River power for the first time—and it includes export.

Export to the U.S. would mean the best possible results and benefits—if this is in the national interest, he said.

But there are two other possibilities: using it for a national grid; or delaying full development to meet B.C. needs.

He clearly laid out the government's policy at the end of a gruelling day and night in the legislature which spent six and a half hours debating his departmental vote.

The sitting ended at 12:50 a.m.—latest of the session—with Mr. Williston drooping with fatigue, and the Opposition critics he was answering almost as weary after eight weeks in the House.

Debate on his department was to continue this afternoon and tonight.

He spelled out the Peace policy after two hours of criticism from Randolph Harding (NDP-CCF—Kaslo-Slocan) and Liberal leader Ray Perrault.

They accused the government of changing policy and being in complete confusion on power.

Here is the plan for the Peace:

- The first stage will be completed in 1967 or 1968, providing 500,000 kilowatts of power at a cost of $450,000,000, available in Lillooet or Vancouver load centres for between 5 and 6 mills per kilowatt hour.

- Then the Peace project will halt, sending this power to the north where already three pulp mills are projected on drawing boards to take advantage of it, and to southern B.C. to plug the gap until the

Strike Call Threatens Fronzizi

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A strike call to 2,000,000 workers raised new threats today to Arturo Fronzizi's thin hold on the presidency of Argentina.

The 53-year-old president was remaining in power as a result of his agreement to split his cabinet between military men and civilians, while banning all political activities by followers of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron.

The Peronists won sweeping victories in provincial elections Sunday, but Fronzizi by decree has nullified the election of Peronist governors.

Sixty-two powerful unions called a 24-hour strike for Friday to protest cancellation of the Peronist victories. There were fears the strike could last longer and lead to violence.

Earlier, the crisis appeared to have eased as the government announced the resignation of eight civilian cabinet members to make room for military men in the new coalition.

The union bosses in calling the strike for Friday threatened to expand it.

U.S., U.S.S.R. TO COAX FRENCH TO GENEVA?

GENEVA (UPI)—The General Disarmament Conference today instructed the United States and Russia to appeal to France to take its seat at the meeting here.

The 17-nation session unanimously adopted an Indian proposal that the two co-chairmen try to persuade the government of President Charles de Gaulle to accept the United Nations' invitation.

France previously declined on the grounds the meeting would be too unwieldy.

'GET OUT OR BE SHOT'

Major Fighting Shakes Oran

ALGIER (Reuters)—Full-scale fighting broke out between French security forces and right-wing terrorists at Oran in western Algeria today and dead and wounded were reported on both sides.

In Algiers, French authorities clamped a curfew on the European working class quarter of Babel Oued after six terrorist gun attacks in which three Moslems were killed and three wounded.

The situation in Oran was confused as truckloads of gendarmes sped through the streets, firing their rifles in the air to disperse the crowds.

First reports said the fighting started when the gendarmes went to search a building in the heart of the city where the Secret Army Organization was believed to have installed a pirate radio transmitter.

Secret army men defended the building and the security forces sprayed it with machine-gun fire from their trucks.

Many young Europeans then started firing with pistols from windows and rooftops. Bands of youths set up roadblocks, and bullets whistled down the main business streets. Shoppers ran wildly for cover.

FOLLOWS ULTIMATUM

The outbursts came after the secret army issued an ultimatum to French Army forces to get out of Algeria by Friday "or be shot."

Leaflets carrying the message were showered on the soldiers after mortar fire from Bab el Oued wreaked havoc on the Moslem quarter of Algiers Tuesday night.

At least four were killed and 68 wounded in the shelling, which marked violence that followed signing of the Franco-Algerian peace treaty ending the 7½-year Algerian war Monday. The French news agency quoted sources as saying 24 were killed in the shelling.

Earlier today, relative calm appeared to be returning to Algiers as buses began running for the first time since Monday's general strike.

French headquarters reported at noon that there had been no reports of clashes between French Army units and Moslems anywhere in Algeria.

The army said "localized effectiveness" of Moslem crowds continued in a number of villages but that "all demonstrations are being handled peacefully."

BY GROMYKO

E. German Envoy Called

GENEVA (CP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko summoned Communist East Germany's senior diplomat to East-West talks on Berlin against the background of the 17-country disarmament conference.

On another front, disarmament experts of the three nuclear powers resumed discussions of a weapons test ban. Informants said they failed to make any dent in the East-West deadlock over provisions for inspection to police the ban. They did agree to meet again Thursday.

Pressure mounted among the uncommitted states for a moratorium on nuclear weapons tests before the United States resumed testing in the atmosphere next month.

Foreign Minister Lothar Bolz of East Germany was expected here late today or tonight to consult with Gromyko.

WEST WATCHING

Western officials closely watched the outbreak of Soviet activity, which seems to have begun with new instructions to Gromyko from Moscow Monday.

Tuesday night Gromyko entertained Rusk and a panel of Berlin policy experts at dinner. They talked for more than three hours. Later word circulated in Western quarters that the Russians had not come up with any new ideas or hints of concessions.

Today, External Affairs Minister Green of Canada met Rusk at the U.S. minister's request. Green said they discussed the whole range of problems. He declined to comment on Berlin.

Soviets at UN Ready to Talk

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Khrushchev agreed today to co-operate with the United States in space exploration, including a program for sending vehicles to other planets.

But he emphasized such joint ventures depend "in some degree on the solution of the disarmament problem."

Khrushchev replied to a letter of President Kennedy on March 7 suggesting that the United States and the Soviet Union pool their efforts in such fields as weather forecasting and international communications and even future exploration of the moon and planets.

Khrushchev's proposed six-point program largely paralleled the president's suggestions. He said he was instructing Soviet representatives in the UN space committee to discuss practical plans. But he added:

"At the same time it seems obvious to me that the scope of our co-operation in the peaceful exploration of space, just as the choice of the very directions along which such co-operation would be possible, depends to some degree on the solution of the disarmament problem."

'Both Countries Are Limited'

Before an agreement on general and complete disarmament is reached, he said, both countries are limited in the possibility of co-operating in space.

The 17-nation disarmament conference meeting in Geneva since March 14 has made no visible progress because of disagreement over the issue of inspection to prevent cheating.

In his March 7 letter, Kennedy proposed Soviet-American co-operation in launching satellites for weather observation, mapping the earth's magnetic field and experimenting in intercontinental communications, helping track each other's space shots and pooling information on space medicine.

This was Kennedy's response to a suggestion for space co-operation, in general terms, which Khrushchev made in voicing congratulations on the three-orbit flight of Lt. Col. John Glenn.

Khrushchev's six-point program, read over Moscow Radio, was:

1. Co-operation in setting up international communications networks utilizing earth satellites.
2. A joint project for studying and observing weather by means of orbiting satellites.
3. Organization of joint radio and telescopic tracking of space vehicles launched toward other planets such as Mars and Venus and the moon.

4. Conclusion of an agreement for rendering aid to space vehicles in difficulty in space. This also envisaged joint life-saving operations for space pilots in distress.

5. Co-operation in mapping the magnetic field surrounding the earth and the exchange of space medical information.

Further, Khrushchev said, there are much greater prospects of co-operation in joint creation of space ships for reaching other planets but this would only be possible after an agreement on disarmament.

Khrushchev said weather forecasting with the aid of artificial earth satellites "will make it possible to wage a more successful struggle against natural disaster and will open new prospects for the increase of the welfare of mankind."

His letter emphasized a joint search and rescue program "is especially necessary in view of the fact that it might mean the rescue of lives of cosmonauts, the courageous explorers of the space of the universe."

Israel Asks Talks On Border Strife

(Times News Services)

JERUSALEM—Syrian and Israeli warplanes clashed today and a Syrian spokesman said one Israeli fighter fled from a dog fight in flames.

Each nation accused the other of violating its air space in this follow-up to hostilities launched in an eight-hour battle in the Sea of Galilee area Saturday.

The number of planes involved was not disclosed.

The Israeli army also claimed Syrian planes had intruded over Israel twice Tuesday and were driven off.

Foreign Minister Mrs. Golda Meir meanwhile invited the United Nations chief of staff in Palestine, Gen. Carl Von Horn, to discuss the border situation.

Foreign ministry sources reported the move following an emergency meeting of the Israeli cabinet Tuesday night.

It was understood the American and British ambassadors also were to confer today with Mrs. Meir.

Tuesday a clash took place shortly before Syrian delegate Farid Chehlouli urged the UN Security Council in New York to investigate the frontier fighting.

Council President Carlos Sosa-Rodriguez of Venezuela said that unless something unforeseen occurred, he would not call.

Five Saved From Fumes By Mother

EDMONTON (CP)—An Edmonton mother of four tried for almost two hours to telephone police Tuesday as she lay on the floor of her home almost unconscious from gas fumes from an unlighted furnace in the basement.

She finally managed to dial the police number correctly and say, "Come quickly my family is ill" and give her address.

Police arrived at the home to find Mrs. Irene Iley, 26, her children Wayne, 7, Gail, 6, Larry, 5, Brenda, 4, and baby-sitter Cathleen Thompson, 19, unconscious. All were taken to hospital and released after treatment.

Officials of an Edmonton gas company said the house probably would have blown up within half an hour if the time Mrs. Iley reached police. Police said only the heroic efforts of the mother saved her family.

and the baby sitter, who lives at the house, from gas poisoning.

Centennial Flashback...

The Victoria Harmony Singing Society announced a "Kraenzchen," or "Solre," at Moore's Hall next week. The society is composed of natives of Germany, and the affair will be conducted under traditional rules.

Fred Engell was fined £2 for driving a horse and cart over the sidewalk at the corner of Yates and Douglas Streets.

FLEET STREET A-QUIVER AFTER BLAST AT BEAVERBROOK'S 'EXPRESS'

Philip Attacks 'Bloody Awful Newspaper'

LONDON (Reuters)—Prince Philip today was caught up in another controversy with the British press after he was quoted as denouncing The Daily Express as "a bloody awful newspaper."

The Express itself reported that Philip made the attack at a British press reception Tuesday in Rio de Janeiro.

Philip was reported to have described the big, outspoken Express, published by Canadian-born Lord Beaverbrook, as "full of lies, scandal and imagination."

"It is a vicious newspaper," he declared.

The transatlantic salvo caused an almost visible tremor on Fleet Street, London's newspaper district. Most British newspapers gave big play to the Duke's charges but all were careful to attribute The Express in quoting Philip's remarks.

Philip's reported attack coincided with a statement Tuesday from Conservative legislator Sir Martin Lindsay accusing The Express and other newspapers owned by Beaverbrook of conducting a "vendetta" against the Royal Family.

Lindsay declared that the Royal Family "have no means of replying" to the "adverse" comments of Beaverbrook's newspaper—a statement that was denied today by The Express.

"Prince Philip showed well enough in his way last night that he can look after himself," The Express said.

The paper, with a circulation of more than 4,000,000, published Philip's attack under the headline: "It's Awful," Says Prince Philip.

The Express also published an editor's note which said: "Both The Daily Express and The Sunday Express have criticized, for instance, the royal yacht, the uses to which it has been put, and the large expenditure that has been incurred on that account."

Lindsay made his statement to reporters following the publication of a private motion picture of Lord Beaverbrook's

House of Commons titled: "Conduct of Lord Beaverbrook." The motion declared "that this House deprecates the conduct of Lord Beaverbrook in authorizing over the last few years in newspapers controlled by him, more than 70 adverse comments on members of the Royal Family who have no means of replying."

For Philip, the controversy was the latest of a series with the press.

On one occasion, he claimed that newspapers were leaving the public "thoroughly muddled" by the way in which they edited his speeches.

Seems b'fore long, Russian an' American astronauts will be goin' aroun' t'gether.

Amalgamation may not solve all th' problems, but it'll git 'em into one big lump.

'MOST WANTED' PAIR SEEN NEAR PEACHLAND

VANCOUVER (CP)—RCMP has warned British Columbia lower mainland law enforcement agencies to be on the lookout for two men on Canada's most-wanted criminal list reported seen near Peachland.

Donald Edward Kolo, who escaped last October from the Saskatchewan Penitentiary, where he was serving 10 years for robbery with violence, and Donald William Jones, wanted for escaping custody, were reported seen on Highway 97.

RCMP in Penticton said a man who said he saw the men hitchhiking identified them from police photographs. It appeared the fugitives, described as dangerous, were heading for the coast, police said.

RICKARD CHAMP

Vancouver Frostbiters Lead Way

Champion frostbite sailor of B.C. is Ches Rickard of the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club, following two days of racing in Cadboro Bay over the weekend.

He was closely followed by Victoria's Ned Ashe, a veteran skipper of boats large and small.

Third was Lol Killam of Royal Vancouver and a surprise fourth was Royal Victoria Yacht Club lady champion Carol McLaren.

First half of the annual competition had been held two weeks previously in mainland waters between the two Royal clubs and the West Vancouver club.

A total of 42 little Davidson class boats took part in the five races Sunday. The F. W. Francis Trophy for this series was won by Royal Vancouver's Ed Bottrell followed by Bill McIntosh and Ned Ashe of Victoria.

On Saturday the three clubs competed for the team championship which was won by Royal Vancouver, with 1,001 points on the low point scoring system.

Second was Victoria with 1,091 and West Vancouver third with 1,289.

Five races were sailed by the 36 boats and this, like the individual competition, was also the second half of a series.

Burial Plan Controls Proposed

Control of pre-paid funeral plans is proposed in a bill presented to the legislature Tuesday night by Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

It requires that approval of any pre-arranged funeral plan must be given by the Public Utilities Commission which already administers the Cemeteries Act.

Any such plan is subject to cancellation by purchaser or any of his personal representatives at any time, but sections on return of monies contributed vary with time and circumstances.

88 PER CENT BACK

At least 88 per cent of contributions must be returned, plus 5 per cent interest, or better.

If cancellation is by the purchaser or his agent, the seller of the plan may keep up to 12 per cent of monies as penalty.

The PUC may make regulations relating to reports by sellers, trustees and other depositors; conditions for assignment; limitation or prohibition of soliciting pre-paid plans, and generally governing the act.

Sellers of the plans would have to place all monies collected in trust.

Argue Easily Wins Liberal Nomination

ASSINIBOIA, Sask. (CP)—Hazen Argue was nominated Tuesday to contest his Assiniboia seat for the Liberal party in the next federal election.

More than 700 persons, including 382 voting delegates, jammed the hall in this southern Saskatchewan community as the 41-year-old Kayville, Sask. farmer took the nomination on the first ballot over Andy Medwid, a Goodwater, Sask., school principal.

The vote, not announced officially, was reported to be 324 to 57 for Mr. Argue. Public announcement of the vote was that Mr. Argue won by "a fair majority."

Mr. Argue joined the Liberal ranks with the unanimous approval of Liberal members of Parliament less than a month ago, after snapping his ties with the New Democratic Party with the charge that it was labor dominated. The defection ended 18 consecutive years during which Mr. Argue represented the CCF in the House of Commons.

Ottawa Asked For 'Freeze' On E & N Sale

The federal government should put a "freeze" on sale of the E & N lands of Vancouver Island, Comox-Sodred MLA Dan Campbell told the legislature Tuesday night.

He said that before the CPR sells the vast forest lands problems of access, conservation and recreation must be solved.

The CPR has never lived up to its agreements in this connection, he said. But sale either to one company or through liquidation to a number of logging interests would mean no guarantee the new owners would either.

Mr. Campbell said the sale would mean an immediate "quick slash cut" which could prove harmful to the local log market.

RIGID CONDITIONS

"I don't believe the people of B.C.—and certainly the people of Vancouver Island—should sit still without having pretty rigid conditions on this sale," he said.

"Before any large sale is undertaken we should prevail on the federal government to put a holding order in order to solve access problems," he said.

Mr. Campbell said all the conditions of a regular government forest management licence should apply to the E & N lands, despite the fact they are privately owned.

He said he could understand that a single company such as Crown Zellerbach would not want to pay the reported asking price of $100,000,000.

AN IMPOSITION

But it would be "a ridiculous imposition on the people of B.C." for the government to buy the land.

The CPR owns enough of the province already without forcing it to pay for its own protection.

Herb Bruch (SC—Esquimalt) agreed that it was Ottawa's responsibility to "step in."

Alex Macdonald (NDP-CCF—Vancouver East) said the

CPR wanted to take all its capital and walk away from the area.

"Their sole purpose is to get for themselves every dollar and cent they can out of their real estate with no concern for anybody else."

Forests Minister Ray Williston admitted the E & N lands were "a very special problem."

But "they didn't come within our jurisdiction."

One of the problems was that the river beds and lakes had been given to the CPR as well as the lands. This could create trouble with runoff.

First U-Boat In Service

IS SPUTNIK TV EYE SPYING ON AMERICA?

LONDON (UPI)—The London Daily Mirror's science editor said today that the Russians may be "spying" on America with its new Sputnik launched last weekend and the Pentagon is giving it "careful thought."

The space vehicle, said Ronald Bedford, could have television cameras aboard similar to the ones with which the Russians photographed the far side of the moon.

"They (the Russians) are being usually secretive about the new satellite," the science editor said.

MONTE ROBERTS

You've no doubt heard about the meeting in Oak Bay, where people talked about pigeons.

Some people were in favor of pigeons, and other people were against pigeons.

A petition signed by 100 people said, "Let's have lots more pigeons," and a petition signed by 62 people said, "Let's not have any pigeons," and other people who hadn't signed either petition said, "Vote no."

All in all, it was quite a squabble.

But what I want to tell you about is another meeting in Oak Bay, where pigeons talked about people.

Some pigeons were in favor of people, and other pigeons were against people, but I have it on good authority from a stool pigeon that most of the pigeons in attendance held themselves above the question of people.

They tried to keep things on a lofty plane, as it were. Real purpose of the meeting quickly came to the fore when a pouter pigeon, known far and wide as English Red, said that something should be done.

"People," he said, "are claiming there are too many pigeons in Oak Bay. It is time," he said, "we pigeons made it known there are too many people in Oak Bay."

"What is sauce for the goose," said English Red, "is sauce for the gander?"

"Please," said a dainty black muffed tumbler, "you are speaking of relatives of mine—distant, but still relatives."

"This is no time for sentiment," he said. "Some people in Oak Bay are objecting to pigeon cotes being enlarged."

"So they are, so they are," agreed a frillback pigeon.

"Well, then," said the white king, "how about we pigeons objecting to all these new high-rise apartments?"

"Here, here," said a homing pigeon. "It's getting so a fellow can't find his way to you-know-where without bumping into the top storey of an uncharted apartment building."

"Too many people," snapped a Swiss Mondaine.

"Now, now," cooed the turtle-dove on the back perch, "what about peaceful co-existence? Isn't that in the pigeons' code of ethics?"

Well, there was a lot more talking after that, and no pigeon agreed with any other pigeon.

After all, the meeting was in Oak Bay.

Restaurant Thief Gets Three Years

Leonard G. Bell, 24, of Glen Lake, was sentenced to three years in the B.C. Penitentiary today on two charges of breaking and entering and theft from the Don Mee Chop Suey, 538 Fisgard, and G. B. Simon Ltd., jewellers, of 1306 Government.

Judge J. B. Clearihue passed sentence in Victoria County Court after Dr. Douglas Alcorn, a specialist in neuropsychiatry, had recommended that Bell should undergo psychiatric treatment.

Bell pleaded guilty to stealing about $12,000 in bills and goods from the Don Mee restaurant and about $500 of valuables and cash from the Simon store, just a few blocks away.

Judge Clearihue sentenced him to three years on each charge, but they will run concurrently.

Bell was first charged in city police court on Feb. 27 with theft from the Don Mee restaurant. He was freed on $2,000 bail and re-arrested the same night and charged with theft from the jewellery store.

Reserving his plea at the time, he elected to be tried before a judge in county court.

Two other persons charged with him in the theft from Don Mee—Marian Miller and Francis Chan, both of Vancouver—were discharged in police court for lack of evidence.

Trucks Crash, Three Men In Hospital

Three men are in hospital after a violent crash between a panel delivery truck and a pickup truck late Tuesday afternoon.

Tossed into a wet ditch was Fred Hancock, 3688 Wesley, delivery driver, after a jarring collision at the Pat Bay Highway-Island View Road intersection.

The accident occurred at 4:45 p.m.

Driver of the old-model pickup, Joe Taylor, Saanichton, is in Royal Jubilee Hospital with multiple cuts. His condition is described as fairly good.

Passenger with him, Gilbert Paul, Brentwood, is reported in good condition.

Hancock suffered severe head injuries. He is in satisfactory condition.

'LUCKY TO LIVE'

Police said Hancock was lucky to be alive after the spectacular crash.

He was driving south on the highway when the other truck came out of Island View Road from the west.

The smash sent Hancock flying from his cab into a water-filled ditch 12 feet away.

He was pulled out by J. W. Smallwood, 4635 Vantreight Drive, a passerby.

Taylor and Paul were covered with blood from cuts and in shock when police arrived, but able to walk.

The accident sent their truck flying against a wooden pole 14 inches wide, ripping away the rear box.

The two vehicles ended up about 50 feet into a field by the side of the road—and 20 yards apart.

Damage to the delivery truck was estimated by police at $500—the pickup beyond repair.

By JOHN MIKA

Paint, painters and painting dominated City Hall today.

Here's the program for viewing the exhibits:

A representative abstract by well-known Victorian Sid Barron was presented to the city by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Arthur Beadle, 3890 Douglas.

It was received by an appreciative Mayor R. B. Wilson and will join the budding "collection" in his office started by Herbert Siebner who donated a controversial abstract of the Inner Harbor last week.

The work by Barron—former Times cartoonist whose titulating cartoons already decorate many City Hall offices as framed originals—is entitled "Calais" and was included in his one-man exhibition at the Greater Victoria Art Gallery a year ago.

his works will be purchased by the city as a gift to the Princess Royal when she visits Victoria in June.

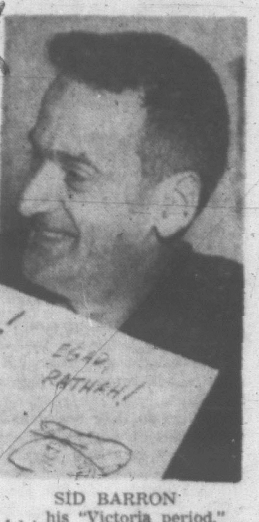

The young Victoria artist has won international acclaim in England and the United States for his pictorial paintings of birds.

Finally, the painting kaleidoscope at city hall slipped towards the mundane—from a creative point of view—to the beauties of ordinary wall paint.

A proclamation was under preparation which the mayor will deliver from the city hall steps Thursday at 1:30 p.m. urging all citizens—particularly downtown merchants—to paint up their buildings for centennial year.

At the end of the proclamation, a crew of painters—commercial house painters that is—will flourish their king-size brushes and begin painting the City Hall walls a striking beige and white combination.

Up-Island Snow Heralds Spring

RETURN OF PREMIER AWAITED

By FRANK RUTTER

Premier Bennett returns to Victoria Thursday—and then the fur will fly in the legislature.

The opposition is waiting for him.

They want a full report on his Ottawa power talks, and subsequent visit to New York.

He has talked power with Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Finance Minister Fleming in Ottawa; he has talked finance in New York.

But before he left he lit the fuse for what could be the biggest-ever explosion in the legislature: his bill denying any court action on the B.C. Electric takeover.

The initial reaction has been one of fury. But the premier missed it all.

So opposition MLAs intend to make up for it. They predict that when the bill comes up for second reading the debate will be long and bitter.

It is expected the premier will pilot the bill through second reading on Thursday night—and probably well into Friday morning.

It could be introduced before the premier's return at tonight's sitting, although this is unlikely.

In any event it promises to be one of the longest, hottest issues to flare in years, and it will certainly prolong the session well into next week.

Unsettled Weather To Continue

Vancouver Island spring was ushered in Tuesday night with flurries of ugh—snow.

And more might fall as far south as Victoria this evening.

Tuesday, officially the first day of spring, 1962, saw a light coat of white on the Malahat Drive. It lasted most of the evening but was rapidly melting away this morning.

Ladysmith reported a sleety evening with the snow melting as soon as it hit ground and Sooke residents noted heavy snow on logging trucks coming out of the hills, although none fell in the village.

A cold rain was falling on Duncan this morning and RCMP there said the temperature had dropped 10 degrees.

UNSETTLED

Weatherman Bill Mackie predicted an unsettled weather picture for Victoria, estimating evening temperatures at 36-45 degrees.

Rain turning to steady showers overnight, and showers with periods of sunshine tomorrow are expected, he said.

As the air is cold Mr. Mackie said some snow could fall this evening, but it shouldn't last long.

Winds will turn from east to southeast at 30-35 mph and make Thursday blustery.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Articles with a total value of $400 were stolen from the room of a cafe manager in the Fairfield Hotel, 710 Cornwall Street, sometime on Tuesday.

Andre Markolekas told city police someone had taken his key from the hotel rack and entered his room between 9 a.m. Tuesday and 1 a.m. today.

Missing were a transistor radio valued at $75; a $200 camera; an electric shaver valued at $25; a $75 suit, four shirts worth $25 and some socks.

A 12-year-old boy required four stitches in his head Tuesday to close a cut inflicted by a jagged piece of coconut.

Jim Carpenter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Carpenter, 2701 Burdick, was apparently playing with some friends.

After cracking the nut open and eating some, the group started to throw it around and Jim was cut on the back of his head by a jagged piece.

He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in Oak Bay Fire Department's emergency vehicle.

C. Thompson was elected president of the Senior Citizens Campaign Council at the recent annual meeting.

A. C. Gildemeester was chosen vice-president and R. McVie secretary.

St. John Ambulance Brigade annual inspection will take place Tuesday. Cadets will be inspected at 6:30 p.m. at 941 Pandora and Seniors at 8 p.m. at 925 Balmoral Road.

Awards will be presented and there will be demonstrations and refreshments.

A reunion is planned Saturday by the 67th Battalion Western Scots at the Dominion Hotel. It will mark the 46th anniversary of the unit's departure from Victoria for overseas.

The Esquimalt Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion will meet this evening at 8 p.m. After election of officers, Peter Cairns will perform the installation ceremonies.

Local radio station KITN, started by two students last October, has been silent since Tuesday. But partners Mal Potts and Ron MacAdam hope to resume broadcasting April 1. They gave "technical difficulties" as the reason for the shutdown.

Named as new president of the Insurance Agents' Association of B.C., at the annual meeting in Vancouver this week, was H. P. R. Brown of Victoria.

The council members from Greater Victoria are J. V. Harbord, M. C. Stewart, H. A. Gardner and L. W. Murray.

Other Island men named to the council were K. T. Guest of Nanaimo, C. F. Draney, Campbell River, and E. A. B. Sutton, Duncan.

The highway to Port Renfrew and extension of the highway to Port Hardy will be among topics for discussion at a meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce transportation and harbor group Monday noon in the Colonial Inn.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow today said city council was bound by a moral obligation to maintain 11 wooded acres it owns in the Gorge as public park land.

He pointed to a city resolution in 1904 under which the land was bought "for park purposes" as a clear indication the city should not lease it for a private amusement park.

He made the statement as a continuation of his battle against a committee recommendation that the city agree in principle to giving a long-term lease to Sherwood Forest Parkland Ltd. for development of a $350,000 medieval amusement park.

Metropolitan Men's Club will meet for supper at 6 p.m. Thursday in the Metropolitan United Church hall. Films on the South Pacific and Hong Kong will be shown.

Schools Symphony Wins Support For Calgary Trip

Intermunicipal committee Tuesday recommended the four councils share a $1,000 grant for the Greater Victoria Schools Symphony Orchestra.

The group is trying to raise $2,000 to finance a trip to Calgary to compete in a schools symphony festival.

"This organization is really tops," said Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch. "In fact it could give the Victoria Symphony a run for its money."

A Chamber of Commerce request for renaming of Foul Bay Road, Henderson and Finerty to "University Way" was tabled pending decision by Saanich council, Oak Bay and Victoria representatives expected approval of the suggestion.

'Dollars' Wanted, Not Needed

A man found inside a Gorge Road service station by police in the early hours of the morning said he wanted to get some extra money although he didn't really need it.

James E. Cousins, 2 Maple Avenue, Sooke, pleaded guilty in city police court today to breaking and entering at 75 Gorge Road, on February 16.

Cons. John Burdny said he noticed a broken window in the service station and found Cousins hiding behind the counter.

When asked what he was doing there he replied: "You can see it. . . I wanted to get some dollars." But he admitted he didn't need the money.

The policeman said two drawers in the counter had been forced but nothing was missing.

Magistrate William Ostler remanded Cousins to appear on March 28 for probation report and sentence.

Large Turnout Expected At Grit Meeting

A large crowd is expected at the Liberal party's nominating convention for Victoria federal riding Monday night, a spokesman said today.

The convention, starting at 8 p.m., will be held in the party headquarters, 1322A Government Street, to choose between two candidates.

The contenders are retired Gen. Charles Foulkes and lawyer Foster Isherwood.

Liberal MP Paul Hellyer, former associate minister of national defence, will be the guest speaker after the convention chooses its standard bearer.

ASK THE TIMES

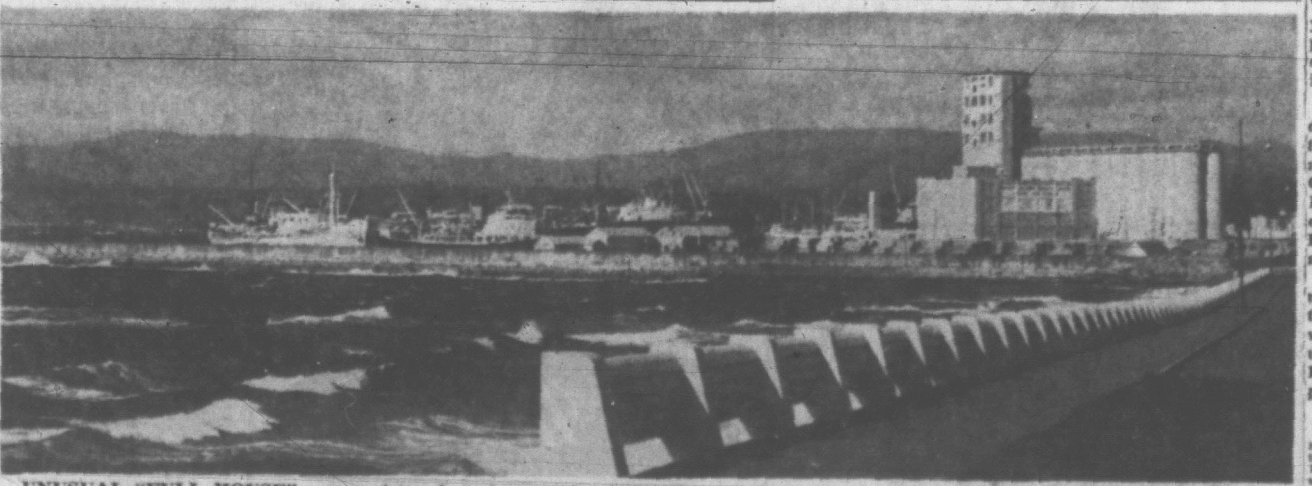

Q. Your centennial column, "This Day in Victoria—1862," often mentions sums of money using the English monetary system of pounds and pence. With reference to this could you please tell me when our present day legal tender of dollars and cents first came into being? J.S.

A. An act establishing a decimal system of accounts in the Colony of Vancouver Island and its dependencies received Governor Douglas' assent on Dec. 12, 1862. This act took effect on Jan. 1, 1863, with the English pound being evaluated at $4.85.

However, the pound continued as legal tender, along with the dollar, until July 1, 1881, when an act establishing one uniform currency for the Dominion of Canada was passed.

Anyone asking a question answered in "Ask the Times" is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor, Question and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. No will attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

UNUSUAL "FULL HOUSE" was registered at deep-sea berths in Victoria area today, with five freighters (above) at the CNR docks, Ogden Point; one under the Victoria Grain Elevator; one at Victoria Machinery Depot; and another at the Government Graving Dock, Esquimalt, for a total of eight blue-water ships in port. Reason is simply the vagaries of ocean shipping, which ebbs and flows like the tides, but, unlike the tides, has no fixed cycle. (Times Photo by Hallett.)

First Peace
Power Cost
5 to 6 MillsBy FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston early this morning outlined the government's plan for marketing Peace River power for the first time—and it includes export.

Export to the U.S. would mean the best possible results and benefits—if this is in the national interest, he said.

But there are two other possibilities: using it for a national grid; or delaying full development to meet B.C. needs.

He clearly laid out the government's policy at the end of a gruelling day and night in the legislature which spent six and a half hours debating his departmental vote.

The sitting ended at 12:50 a.m.—latest of the session—with Mr. Williston drooping with fatigue, and the Opposition critics he was answering almost as weary after eight weeks in the House.

Debate on his department was to continue this afternoon and tonight.

He spelled out the Peace policy after two hours of criticism from Randolph Harding (NDP-CCF—Kaslo-Slocan) and Liberal leader Ray Perreault.

They accused the government of changing policy and being in complete confusion on power.

Here is the plan for the Peace:

● The first stage will be completed in 1967 or 1968, providing 500,000 kilowatts of power at a cost of $450,000,000, available in Lillooet or Vancouver load centres for between 5 and 6 mills per kilowatt hour.

● Then the Peace project will halt, sending this power to the north where already three pulp mills are projected on drawing boards to take advantage of it, and to southern B.C. to plug the gap until the

Israel Asks Talks
On Border Strife

(Times News Service)
JERUSALEM—Syrian and Israeli warplanes clashed today and a Syrian spokesman said one Israeli fighter fled from a dog fight in flames.
Each nation accused the other of violating its air space in this followup to hostilities launched in an eight-hour battle in the Sea of Galilee area Saturday. The number of planes involved was not disclosed.

The Israeli army also claimed Syrian planes had intruded over Israel twice Tuesday and were driven off.

Foreign Minister Mrs. Golda Meir meanwhile invited the United Nations chief of staff in Palestine, Gen. Carl von Horn, to discuss the border situation. Foreign ministry sources reported the move following an emergency meeting of the Israeli cabinet Tuesday night.

It was understood the American and British ambassadors also were to confer today with Mrs. Meir.

Tuesday a clash took place shortly before Syrian delegate Farid Chehlaoui urged the UN Security Council in New York to investigate the frontier fighting. Council President Carlos Sosa-Rodriguez of Venezuela said that unless something unforeseen occurred, he would not call the council into session before next week to hear the Syrian complaint.

HE REMEMBERS HIS VICTORIA

Second abstract by an outstanding Victoria artist—former Times cartoonist Sid Barron—was received today by an admiring Mayor R. B. Wilson. Standing with him is Mrs. Arthur Beadle, who donated the work to the city. Painted in vivid yellow, blues and greens, it is an abstraction of tall fishing boat masts reaching for the sky and reflected in the water. (See Page 17.)

EDMONTON (CP)—An Edmonton mother of four tried for almost two hours to telephone police Tuesday as she lay on the floor of her home almost unconscious from gas fumes from an unlighted furnace in the basement.

She finally managed to dial the police number correctly, and say, "Come quickly, my family is ill" and give her address.

Police arrived at the home to find Mrs. Irene Iley, 26, her children Wayne, 7, Gail, 6, Larry, 5, Brenda, 4, and baby-sitter Cathleen Thompson, 19, unconscious. All were taken to hospital and released after treatment.

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Khrushchev agreed today to co-operate with the United States in space exploration, including a program for sending vehicles to other planets.

But he emphasized such joint ventures depend "in some degree on the solution of the disarmament problem."

Khrushchev replied to a letter of President Kennedy on March 7 suggesting that the United States and the Soviet Union pool their efforts in such fields as weather forecasting and international communications and even future exploration of the moon and planets.

Khrushchev's proposed six-point program largely parallels the president's suggestions. He said he was instructing Soviet

Streets Raked
By Rifle Fire

ALGIERS (Reuters) — Full-scale fighting broke out between French security forces and right-wing terrorists at Oran in western Algeria today and dead and wounded were reported on both sides.

In Algiers, French authorities clamped a curfew on the European working class quarter of Babel Oued after six terrorist gun attacks in which three Moslems were killed and three wounded.

The situation in Oran was confused as truckloads of gendarmes sped through the streets, firing their rifles in the air to disperse the crowds.

First reports said the fighting started when the gendarmes went to search a building in the heart of the city where the Secret Army Organization was believed to have installed a pirate radio transmitter.

Secret army men defended the building and the security forces sprayed it with machine-gun fire from their trucks.

Many young Europeans then started firing with pistols from windows and rooftops. Bands of youths set up roadblocks, and bullets whistled down the main business streets. Shoppers ran wildly for cover.

FOLLOWS ULTIMATUM

The outburst came after the secret army issued an ultimatum to French Army forces to get out of Algeria by Friday "or be shot."

Leaflets carrying the message were showered on the soldiers after mortar fire from Bab el Oued wreaked havoc on the Moslem quarter of Algiers Tuesday night.

At least four were killed and 68 wounded in the shelling, which marked violence that followed signing of the Franco-Algerian peace treaty ending the 7½-year Algerian war Monday. The French news agency quoted sources as saying 24 were killed in the shelling.

Earlier today, relative calm appeared to be returning to Algiers as buses began running for the first time since Monday's general strike.

(French headquarters reported at noon that there had been no reports of clashes between French Army units and Moslems anywhere in Algeria.

The army said "localized effervescence" of Moslem crowds continued in a number of villages but that "all demonstrations are being handled peacefully."

GENEVA (CP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko summoned Communist East Germany's senior diplomat to East-West talks on Berlin against the background of the 17-country disarmament conference.

On another front, disarmament experts of the three nuclear powers resumed discussions of a weapons test ban.

Informants said they failed to make any dent in the East-West deadlock over provisions for inspection to police the ban. They did agree to meet again Thursday.

Pressure mounted among the uncommitted states for a moratorium on nuclear weapons tests before the United States resumed testing in the atmosphere next month.

Foreign Minister Lothar Bolz of East Germany was expected here late today or tonight to consult with Gromyko.

WEST WATCHING

Western officials closely watched the outburst of Soviet activity, which seems to have begun with new instructions to Gromyko from Moscow Monday.

Tuesday night Gromyko entertained Rusk and a panel of Berlin policy experts at dinner. They talked for more than three hours. Later word circulated in Western quarters that the Russians had not come up with any new ideas or hints of concessions.

Today, External Affairs Minister Green of Canada met Rusk at the U.S. minister's request. Green said they discussed the whole range of problems. He declined to comment on Berlin.

France previously declined on the grounds the meeting would be too unwieldy.
